Edouard Daladier And Cabinet Resign In Body This Afternoon

PRESIDENT SEEKS TO SOLVE CRISIS

Former President Doumergue Is Besought To Form New Cabinet

PARIS, Feb. 7.—Gaston Doumergue, 71-year old former president of the republic, this afternoon agreed to attempt to form a new government to succeed that of Edouard Daladier and to rescue France from the threat of civil war.

PARIS, Feb. 7.—The cabinet of Edouard Daladier resigned this afternoon.

Capitulating to the demands of milling thousands in the streets of Paris, the prime minister rode to the Elysee Palace and announced to President Lebrun the retirement of his government.

A brief communique issued by Daladier himself at 2:10 this afternoon, announced that he had resigned "to prevent further bloodshed" following last night's riots, the gravest in the history of the third republic.

Unwilling To Order Troops

The retiring premier said he was unwilling to order troops to fire upon manifestants in further demonstrations feared to erupt today.

"The government, responsible for order," read the communique, "refused to maintain it today by the use of exceptional measures susceptible of causing bloody repression."

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 7.—The civil service commission today announced an examination would be conducted for the New Castle postmaster position and that applicants for examination would be received until the close of business February 27. Candidates will not be assembled for the test but will be examined by questionnaire.

The commission issued the following rules for the New Castle examination:

Rules For Examination.

"To be eligible for the examination an applicant must be a citizen of the United States, must reside within the delivery of this postoffice, must have so resided for at least one year next preceding the date for close of receipt of applications, must be in good physical condition and within the prescribed age limits. Both men and women are admitted."

"Under the terms of the executive order, the civil service commission will certify to the postmaster general the names of the highest three qualified eligibles, if as many as three are qualified, from which the postmaster general may select one for nomination by the president. Confirmation by the senate is the final action."

Letter Will Be Read In Court

Impassioned Letter Written By Woman Doctor To Late Doctor-Lover Will Be Read

WOMAN ON TRIAL IN MISSISSIPPI

(International News Service)

GREENWOOD, Miss., Feb. 7.—An impassioned letter from Dr. Sara Ruth Dean pleading for a "farewell meeting" with Dr. John Preston Kennedy was expected to be read today at the woman physician's trial for murder.

The letter was one of two sent by Dr. Dean to the brilliant young surgeon prior to what the state calls the "poison highball party" staged on July 27. The woman physician is alleged to have put poison into Dr. Kennedy's highball because the physician had planned to return to his divorced wife.

Introduce Letter

Introduction of the letter probably will follow the defense cross-examination of Dr. Henry Kennedy, brother of the deceased physician. Repeating deathbed statements he said his brother had made to him, Dr. Kennedy's testimony boiled down to one outstanding accusation: "Dr. Ruth Dean gave me a drink of whiskey with poison in it."

But the defense today is expected to put Dr. Kennedy through a six-hour ordeal in an effort to prove his brother committed suicide.

The defense will try to discredit the murder charge by citing the fact that Preston's insurance policy calls for double indemnity should it be shown that he met a "violent death."

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 7.—A close guard was maintained today over Theodore Mathers, 19-year-old embalming student and alleged trigger man in the $10 murder of the Rev. Appoyd V. Saunders, to prevent him from committing suicide in jail here.

The bearded youth suffering from a disease of the heart, expected to kill him within three years, screamed for an overdose of medicine "to end it all." He has to take a strong stimulant as medicine constantly.

"I don't believe I did wrong in killing Saunders," Mathers shrieked. "He tried to kill me. I'd do it again!"

Meanwhile, Mrs. Neoma Saunders, 35, sickly widow of the Methodist minister, assumed an obstinate silence refusing suddenly to answer any questions of police. A similar attitude was taken by Masli Roe, 19, alleged driver of the car in which the minister was shot to death.

A presentation of constitution and by-laws amendments will occupy the membership of the Phalanx fraternity when it meets in the Y. M. C. A. tonight at 7:30. Charles Mathers, president, will preside.

Authorities Prepare To Enter Bremer Case

(International News Service)

ST. PAUL, Minn., Feb. 7.—Combined forces of police, state and federal authorities were ready to unleash at an hour's notice today an intensive manhunt for the kidnapers of Edward G. Bremer, wealthy banker seized three weeks ago for $200,000 ransom.

Three days of grace promised the abductors by Adolph Bremer, aged father of the missing man, was to expire at noon today with the wealthy brewer's hope of establishing contact with the gang apparently still unfulfilled.

Members of the Bremer family still insisted that no communication had come from the abductors since January 17, the day of the kidnapping, when a note demanding the huge ransom was received.

American Embassy In Paris Is Guarded

(International News Service)

PARIS, Feb. 7.—Robert Pell, press attache of the American embassy, was among those injured in the Place De La Concorde rioting, it was disclosed today, while the American consulate was asked to search for two New Yorkers reported missing after the fighting.

Pell was struck over the head with a night stick by a policeman who encountered him as he was leaving the embassy, located directly off the Place De La Concorde.

John Wolfe, a New Yorker, who was missing overnight was located today in Laennec hospital. He had been severely beaten but his condition was not regarded as critical. His injuries were received, it was stated, at the hands of the police during the rioting in the Place De La Concorde.

Briton Busch, a travel agent from New York, was still missing.

The American embassy, situated in the heart of the neighborhood of yesterday's riots was under a heavy troop guard, with steel shutters protecting its windows and a heavy steel fence surrounding the grounds.

The Hotel Crillon, directly across the street from the embassy and a residence favored by many Americans also was under an armed guard.

Both buildings were splattered with bullets yesterday, a French chambermaid being killed as she stood on a balcony of the hotel, while one of its managers was wounded.

Americans in both buildings had narrow escapes.

Taxi Strike In New York Ended

Taxi Strikers Go Back To Work Under Peace Terms Advanced By Mayor LaGuardia

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—New York's city wide taxi strike ended today.

But a backwash of sporadic violence, originating among strikers dissatisfied with Mayor LaGuardia's peace terms, kept the police busier than they were at any time during the six-day cessation of service.

Thousands of cabs rolled under heavy police guard from the garages of the large fleet owners and service was normal at the principal midtown transit points.

Strikers who had refused to join the "back-to-fleet" movement lay in wait for rolling cabs at garages, bombarding them with stones, bricks and sticks.

Windshields and windows of three cabs were smashed. Not until radio police arrived as reinforcements were the strikers dispersed.

GRADE CROSSINGS WILL BE ABOLISHED

Plan Projects In Mercer County

Three Grade Crossings In West Salem Township To Be Eliminated

STATE COMMISSION APPROVES PROGRAM

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Feb. 7.—The Public Service commission today approved the petition of the Department of Highways for abolition of three grade crossings in West Salem township, Mercer county.

Two of the crossings are at points where state highway route 43061 crosses the Pennsylvania railroad tracks and the third is a township road crossing on the same tracks.

New highways will be constructed along the west side of the railroad between the highway crossing and on the east side of the railroad connecting state highways 43061 and 43035 to eliminate all three crossings. The cost will be $19,133.98 exclusive of property damages.

The railroad has agreed to pay $3500 towards the costs and the county will assume the cost of property damages.

SCOPE OF PROBE AT WASHINGTON GROWING WIDER

congressional committees worked feverishly to cope with this situation. The senate, meanwhile, prepared to try four defendants Friday on contempt charges developing from the destruction of air mail records.

Features Of Situation

In the spreading panorama of intrigue, with hundreds of millions in tax money as the illicit prize and influential lawyer-lobbyists as the "villains" of the piece, these factors stood out:

1. On instructions of Secretary of War Dorn, the department of justice started a sweeping inquiry into lobbyist activities affecting the war department. Dorn made the amazing charge that the lobbyists are seeking to force his resignation so as to "cover up" their nefarious activities.
2. The house naval affairs subcommittee summoned former secretary of the navy Adams, together with former assistant secretaries David S. Ingalls and Edward Warner, to testify concerning huge profits made by aircraft manufacturers on naval contracts.
3. A minute audit of war department accounts involving aircraft purchases was ordered by a house military affairs subcommittee.

4. Army and Marine Corps experts were summoned to appear before the Black senate committee following the revelation that profits ranging up to 99 per cent, as disclosed by war department audits, had been made by a subsidiary of united aircraft and transport company in the sale of airplane equipment to the army. Air mail papers torn up by Col. L. H. Brittin, vice president of Northwest Airways, Inc., were recovered.

5. Administration leaders in the senate laid plans to fight vigorously for jail sentences against former assistant secretary of commerce William P. MacCracken, Jr., and three aviation company officials when these men appear Friday for trial at the bar of the senate on contempt charges.

6. Attorney General Cummings pressed a grand jury investigation involving charges of fraud in a $2,000,000 truck contract sought in connection with an army contract, for which the CWA allocated funds.

7. The lobbyist "blacklist," first instituted by Secretary of the Interior Ickes, was extended to the war department. Dorn announced the "blacklisting" of Joseph Silverman, New York dealer in surplus army supplies, a few hours before news of the grand jury investigation was made public.

Roosevelt Urges Speedy Action In Contracts Probe

Every Complaint Will Be Followed Up Carefully By Department Of Justice

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—President Roosevelt has ordered speedy action in the Justice Department's investigation of complaints that War Department contracts were improperly let.

The President revealed today that the inquiry into War Department contracts resulted from complaints which came from three or four different sources. These complaints seemed worth investigating to Mr. Roosevelt, and he ordered the Justice Department to go clean to the bottom in its probe.

Mr. Roosevelt has further directed the Justice Department to act speedily in all cases where irregularities are discovered.

The President has directed justice officials to follow up every complaint carefully. He revealed today that these complaints embrace a period extending back into the Hoover administration and up to the present date.

PARIS POLICE AND SOLDIERS HALT RIOTING

Place De La Concorde which began hurling missiles.

The American embassy quickly closed its iron gates.

In the ensuing melee fifty persons were felled in front of the Embassy building, including ten women. None of them were Americans.

The crowd, which numbered about 10,000, set up a shout:

"To The Elysee Palace!"

New Colonial troops were promptly brought up armed with machine-guns, and soldiers and policemen established a cordon about the streets leading from the Place De La Concorde and the Presidential Palace.

Five mounted guards were unhorsed by the mob and beaten in the Place De La Concorde. Their helmets and carbines were taken.

Infantrymen Take Positions.

Four trucks carrying units of the 121st Regiment of Infantry crossed the Place De La Concorde at 4:40 this afternoon and took up positions in the vicinity of the Elysee Palace.

Immediately thereafter all streets in the vicinity of the palace were closed.

The first break in the mob demonstrations occurred late this afternoon.

A crowd of from 1,500 to 2,000, marching on the Elysee Palace, headed an impassioned plea by Jean Chalmers, former chief secretary of the war ministry, that they give the new government in process of formation a chance.

They turned back into the Rue St. Honoré.

Though news of Daladier's resignation sped through the city like wild-fire and was greeted by uproarious cheering on the boulevards, unruly mobs again gathered in the neighborhood of the Elysee palace—the French White House—while political leaders, conferring with President Lebrun, were attempting to solve the crisis.

New outbreaks of fighting occurred, especially in the great Place de La Concorde, scene of last night's most bitter clashes.

Police, resisting new attacks, drove the rioters back against the American embassy, which speedily closed its great iron gates, but in the struggle before the embassy at least 50 persons ten of them women, were injured.

Leaders harangued the crowd, numbering nearly 10,000, and demanded an immediate march on the Elysee palace, only a short distance away. The situation speedily became so menacing that four units of the crack 121st Infantry regiment were hurried into action, police and members of the mobile guard around the Elysee were reinforced.

send soldiers against the manifestants.

"The president of the council of ministers has presented the cabinet's resignation to President Lebrun."

Even as he wrote his announcement, mobs, ignorant of his intention, formed in the boulevards and headed for the chamber of deputies where Daladier last night had achieved three parliamentary victories over foes who sought to oust him in the struggle over the $40,000,000 Stavisky financial scandal.

The mobs were howling "murderer" as they advanced.

Republican guards were escorting them and watching their movements closely but making no attempt to break up the procession, despite the fact that a decree issued by the prefect of police this morning, with the sanction of the Daladier government, specifically forbade such parades and ordered the police to break them up.

Announces Resignation

But at the Place De La Bourse where financiers were gathered eagerly awaiting news, an illuminated moving sign was suddenly displayed across the front of a building, announcing that "Daladier has resigned" this was based on an announcement from the foreign office as the premier left for the Elysee Palace.

Immediately pandemonium broke out. Brokers by the hundreds set up a cheer and began singing the Marseillaise.

In the great Place De La Concorde, a stone's throw from the Elysee Palace where the political crisis was reaching its denouement thousands of curious gathered eager to view the results of last night's rioting, particularly at the ministry of marine, Bouisson, president of the cabinet, who had attempted to burn the building.

But the police kept this crowd, numbering several thousand, on the move and no incidents occurred in the great square where several persons lost their lives and many wounded in last night's charges by police and members of the Republican guard.

As news of the resignation of the cabinet became generally known there were wild outbreaks of cheering in the streets, comparable to the celebration that greeted announcement of the signing of the Armistice.

Seeks To Solve Crisis

President Lebrun took his first step late this afternoon to solve the political crisis when he summoned Jules Jeanneney, president of the senate; Ferdinand Bousson, president of the chamber; Edouard Herriot, former premier, and Pierre Etienne Flaudin, left party leader to the Elysee Palace for a conference.

Pressure was being brought to bear upon Gaston Doumergue, former president of the Republic, to accept the premiership.

President Lebrun telephoned Doumergue, who is in the south of France, requesting him to form a government but Doumergue refused.

Paris municipal councillors later telephoned Doumergue, pleading with him to change his mind and declaring they considered him the only man capable of restoring order in Paris.

When political leaders envisaged a possible dictatorship last week Doumergue's name was among those mentioned. It was common talk that a directory had been suggested in some quarters to be composed of Doumergue, Gen. Maxime Weygand, chief of staff of the army, and possibly others.

Edouard Daladier formed his cabinet exactly eight days ago today when the government of Camille Chautemps fell because of the scandal raised over the Stavisky affair. It was a notably weak, moderate ministry, made up largely of the same elements that constituted the Chautemps administration.

Almost immediately it encountered difficulties.

Yielding to the cries of the public Daladier removed from office Jean Chiappe, prefect of police, because of his alleged connection with the Stavisky scandal. Promptly Col. Fabry, minister of war, and Francois Pietri, ministry of navy, two of the most forceful figures, resigned.

Daladier reorganized his cabinet only to clash head-on with a new wave of indignation among friends of Chiappe.

These with other discordant elements, communists, royalists, the young patriots' league, fascists and other groups, including the powerful war veterans' organization, fomented the agitation that led to yesterday's disorders and brought down the government today.

to assemble in an examination room for scholastic tests, but will be rated on their education and business experience and fitness. The civil service commission will make inquiry among representative local business and professional men and women concerning the experience, ability and character of each applicant, and the evidence thus secured will be considered in determining the ratings to be assigned to the applicants.

The commission states that presidential postmasters are not in the classified civil service and that its duties in connection with appointments to such positions are to hold examinations and to certify the results to the postmaster general. The commission is not interested in the political, religious or fraternal affiliations of any applicant.

BROWN TO GIVE TESTIMONY IN SENATE PROBE

(International News Service)

TOLEDO, O., Feb. 7.—Former Postmaster General Walter P. Brown will make a personal appearance before the U. S. senate committee probing airmail contracts to defend his administration, he disclosed today.

"I have every reason to believe," he said, "that I will be allowed to testify. I will, of course, welcome the opportunity."

Brown intimated that he would demand a chance to appear before the committee if it did not summon him of its own accord.

Simultaneously, he termed the latest Washington reports mentioning him in connection with alleged favoritism in awarding contracts for wood flooring for government buildings as "of no consequence."

Nations are like men. They believe territorial rights sacred after they have stolen all the land they need.

RECEPTION FOR ENGLISH VISITOR

Tuesday afternoon from 4 to 5:30 Mrs. Howard M. Kirk received several hundred club women and school teachers of the city and county in her home in honor of Miss Jennie Lee of England, former member of the British Parliament, who is making a speaking tour of the eastern part of the United States, talking on educational and foreign policy subjects.

Miss Lee is a charming personage, full of vitality and the broad English accent with which she speaks adds to her interesting personality. In speaking of the United States, Miss Lee says one interesting point she notes in the American people is their ability to laugh at themselves. She takes great delight in the vastness of the American mind and the ability to embrace things as a whole, where as the English take their interests on a smaller scale. She is doing journalistic work in connection with her trip here and one of the commissions her editor gave her was to report on the habits of the undergraduates of American schools and the morals of the gunmen of the states, which Miss Lee considers is quite a large undertaking, as she says she really does not expect to come in any close contact with gangsters on her trip.

Refreshments were served from a handsomely appointed tea table, at which Mrs. Robert Aiken and Mrs. John Elder presided. The centerpiece was a low bowl of tulips, narcissi and jonquils mixed with greenery, flanked at each end with handsome old silver candelabra, in which burned tall white cathedral tapers.

Mrs. William Cosel and Mrs. Archibald H. Davis greeted the women at the door and aides to the hostess were Mrs. S. W. Perry, Mrs. David H. Long, Mrs. O. P. Brown and Mrs. Walter W. Brahm.

Among the out-of-town guests were Miss Mary Stevenson of Hubbard, Ohio; Mrs. T. C. Blaisdell and Mrs. Headland, wives of faculty members of Slippery Rock college, and Misses Brubeck, Hanson, Beery, Stewart, Gray and Ray of the Slippery Rock college faculty.

MICCO-CAIAZZA CHURCH WEDDING

Miss Ann Marie Micco, sister of Mrs. L. Caiazza, was united in marriage to Hugo Vincent Caiazza, son of Lucien Caiazza of Phillips Place, Tuesday morning in St. Vitus church, Rev. Father N. DeMita officiated the ceremony with solemn high mass.

Amid palms, tulips and calla lilies, the bride, who was given in marriage by L. Caiazza, marched down the aisle, followed by her maid of honor, Miss Dorothy Micco and the best man, Joseph Colaluca. The groom met the bride at a beautifully empaneled altar before which the pretty exchange of vows was given.

The bride was attired in a gown of white satin, made with a long train and trimmed with real lace. Her veil of the same length, was caught with a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a prayer book and a corsage of orchids and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor wore a delicate pink frock and she carried a corsage of tea roses.

A congratulatory period followed. In the receiving line with Mr. and Mrs. Caiazza were Mr. and Mrs. P. Micco, Mr. and Mrs. J. Bartlett, Mr. and Mrs. L. Caiazza, Miss Dorothy Micco and Joseph Colaluca.

At noon, Mr. and Mrs. L. Caiazza entertained approximately 75 guests at an elegant dinner. The centerpiece, a nine tier wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, was an art of the hostess.

Following dinner, a short reception was held in the afternoon, after which the newly weds departed for Detroit, Mich., where they will stay at the Detroit Leland hotel.

For traveling, the bride chose a new pouf ensemble with navy blue accessories.

Mrs. Caiazza is a graduate nurse of the New Castle hospital. Mr. Caiazza is a talented musician and is affiliated with Sammy Dyvert's Arcadia orchestra in the Detroit-Leland hotel at Detroit.

Testifying to the high esteem in which the bride is held, were a number of pre-nuptial affairs given by several friends.

Out of town guests were the groom's colleagues: Joseph Colaluca, Sammy Dyvert, Bob Burke, Peter J. Dwyer, S. Myric, Dr. J. Sanardo, J. Iodice, all of Detroit.

CLASSES TO JOIN IN EVENING DINNER

The Men's Bible class and the Helping Hand class of the Central Presbyterian church will join in a dinner meeting Thursday evening in the church dining room at six o'clock.

J. N. McCandless, president of the Men's class, and Mrs. Wylie Wallace, president of the Helping Hand class, will preside.

The speaker for the occasion will be T. W. McCullough, who will have as his subject, "Western Pennsylvania."

MRS. OLIVE HEWITT FETED BY OFFICERS

Tuesday evening, February 6, will be an evening long remembered by the officers of Cathedral Chapter 440, O. E. S., as at this time they honored their worthy matron, Mrs. Olive Hewitt, at a beautifully appointed dinner in the Elks club.

Places were arranged for 26 and the decorations included unique favors, when the place cards and little frilled colonial bouquets were placed together the result was a basket of colorful candy flowers.

Besides the honored guest, special guests included Mrs. Carolyn Lindsey, district deputy grand matron; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jackson, Mrs. Frank Goodwin and Mrs. Ashton, mother of the matron.

In addition to the officers of the year, all past worthy matrons, Mrs. Luella J. Stone, Mrs. Lillian Templeton, Mildred Updegraff and Mrs. Edith DeArment, were present.

As a memento of the occasion a picture was taken of the group and this will be presented Mrs. Hewitt.

Cards formed the pastime of the after dinner hours.

Arrangements for this delightful event were made by Mrs. Edna West, Mrs. Jean Henley and Mrs. Emma White.

CLUB GIRLS ENJOY EVENING OF BRIDGE

Bridge at Eight members, meeting in the home of Mrs. Robert Frazier on Hillcrest avenue Tuesday evening, had a pleasant time at the usual game.

Two tables were in play with Miss Maxine Pitzer winning the prize. Special guests were Miss Dorothy Sankey and Mrs. Frank Eversly. Lunch was eaten by candlelight, the tables being centered with red hearts, suggestive of valentine day. Red and white tones prevailed in the dainty menu served. Miss Jeanne Patterson and Mrs. Frank Eversly assisted the hostess.

The next meeting will be February 20, with Miss Lillian Griffith of Temple avenue.

LUNCHEON FRIDAY FOR CLUB MEMBERS

As guests of Mrs. Jessie E. Edgar, associates in the A. A. club will be entertained at one o'clock luncheon Friday, in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Roy M. Jamison, on Sheridan avenue.

Covers will be laid for eleven, and the hours following will be devoted to informal parties.

Grim Family Meets.

The February meeting of the Grim family took place Tuesday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Grim at Walmo.

The afternoon was spent in games, chat and music with a chicken dinner as the climax of the day.

The March meeting will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Grim, East New Castle.

The group included Mr. and Mrs. L. Q. Hoover and daughters Ruth and Elsie, Mrs. Martha Candioti, Mrs. Peter Grim and sons Ronald, Alfred, Charles and Leroy, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Shellenberger and daughter Shirley, Wilson Grim, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Grim. Special guests were Mrs. G. Duffy and Kenneth Duffy, Sharon, Mr. and Mrs. George Reynolds and sons George and Dickie of Walmo and Mrs. Shellenberger of East Brook.

Jolliokousin Club.

Miss Mae Cromie entertained the Jolliokousin club Tuesday evening at her home on the Harlansburg road. Cards and chat were pleasures with prizes going to Mrs. Joseph DuPuy and Mrs. Charles Bishop.

Refreshments were served at a seasonable hour, the hostess having for aids Mrs. Welling Pulford and Mrs. Clarence Miller.

Plans were made for an anniversary dinner on February 27. Arrangements will be furthered at the next regular club session, February 20, in the home of Mrs. Joseph DuPuy on East Washington street.

Epworth League Party

The first in a series of parties to be given by the Epworth League of the Croton M. E. church took place in the home of Miss Mariella Blaine of Dewey avenue, vice president, last evening.

The committee in charge was composed of Miss Blaine, Joe Booth, Roy Bales, Clayton Cranmer, Elizabeth Reynolds and Fern Watt. There were 30 present and the evening was enjoyably spent in playing various games. Lunch was served at small tables, attractively arranged.

Awards of merit were presented to Roy Bales and Mrs. C. V. Pyle.

Study Group

Dr. Mary Baker, school physician, will speak to the study group of the Highland Parent-Teacher Association in Highland school Thursday afternoon at 2:15.

Dr. Baker will have "The Nature of Adolescence" as her subject.

Anniversary Dinner Features Program For Each Month Of Year

A kaleidoscope of beautiful colors, artistically arranged formed a beautiful background for the anniversary dinner of the Y. L. B. class of the Third United Presbyterian church Tuesday evening in the dining room of the church with twelve long tables seating the 350 guests present.

Dr. S. B. Copeland, pastor of the church, invoked the divine blessing and the excellent menu served was prepared by the social committee of the class, with Mrs. Jennie Shaffer as chairman.

After dessert had been served Mrs. Ira Alford, president of the class, introduced Mrs. Lulu Kocher, chairman of the program, who in a witty manner introduced the special guests: Dr. S. B. Copeland, pastor; Mrs. S. B. Copeland, teacher of the class; G. H. Colnot, superintendent of the Sabbath school; Mrs. J. A. Wilson, assistant teacher; Mrs. Ira Alford, president of the class and Dr. R. M. Eagleson. She had interesting verses for each month of the year, which were represented by the tables. Guests at each table were those whose birthday occurred in that month.

The January table, with Mrs. Albert Lutz as hostess, was prettily decorated in red and white, the centerpiece being a large snow ball, with smaller snow balls at each end, these being tied with large red bows; the program for this group was given by the guests giving humorous New Year resolutions.

The February table, Mrs. Anna McLure, hostess, was patriotically decorated, a number of the guests presented the program for this in the form of a Washington program, excerpts being given from the etiquette book written by George Washington. The women sang a song while the men whistled the accompaniment.

The March table presented an "Irish" theme, dishes, flowers and candles all suggesting the green of old Erin. Mrs. Claire McConnell was hostess here and for their part of the program Mrs. R. O. Lindsey sang "While Irish Eyes Are Smiling."

The April table presented a spring like appearance with a bowl of yellow jonquils as the centerpiece, the other appointments being carried out in purple and yellow. Mrs. Earl McKnight was hostess here and a surprising number was given by three members, announced as a choral number. After much clearing of throats and bows, they said "April Fool" and sat down.

The merry month of May table, Mrs. John Bruce hostess, was centered by a May pole, pink and white being the colors artistically carried out in the flowers and other novel decorations. Their contribution for the evening was a violin number, Mendelssohn's "Spring Song," played by Alice Reed, with Miss Aiken as her accompanist.

Concluding the dinner, which is open to all Eastern Star members and friends, there will be a period of cards. Reservations are being received by Mrs. Olive Hewitt, worthy matron, and Mrs. Hazel Mathieson.

CATHEDRAL CHAPTER ANNIVERSARY PARTY

The social calendar of the Cathedral Chapter 440 O. E. S. is marked for Friday evening, February 9, as that is the day selected for the anniversary dinner in the west dining room of the Cathedral at 6:30.

Miss Mildred Updegraff is general chairman of arrangements, and Mrs. Edith DeArment hostess for the evening, with the officers as aides.

On account of the painting going on in the Box Avenue school, the tea planned by the Parent-Teacher Association of the school for Thursday afternoon has been postponed one week.

The event will be a feature of Thursday, Feb. 15.

BIRTHDAY PARTY COMING EVENT

A number of little kiddies are eagerly looking forward to Saturday afternoon to enjoy a party in the home of Charlotte Ann Jones on Euclid avenue.

Invitations have been issued by the little hostess' mother, Mrs. Presley N. Jones, and the hours will be from 2:30 to 5. The occasion will mark the seventh birthday of little Charlotte Ann.

Tea Postponed

On account of the painting going on in the Box Avenue school, the tea planned by the Parent-Teacher Association of the school for Thursday afternoon has been postponed one week.

Class Plans Party

Members of the Workers Together class of the Croton M. E. Sunday school will have a valentine tureen dinner in the dining room of the church on Thursday evening at six o'clock, when the husbands and boy friends will be special guests.

The committee in charge of arrangements is composed of Mrs. Ed. Milliken and Misses Elizabeth Reynolds, Sara Sheehy, Jean DeGarmo and Twila Truxall.

P-12-P Bridge Club.

Mrs. Anthony Kachinski, formerly of New Castle, entertained members of the P-12-P Bridge club at her home in Beaver Falls recently. Prizes were awarded to Helen Dolder and Cecelia Senkow. At an appropriate hour refreshments were served, the hostess being assisted by her sister Mary. Tables were beautifully decorated in red and white.

Mothers' Circle.

Mrs. Hiram Houk, 329 Park avenue, will be hostess to the members of the Mothers' Circle of the First Methodist church in her home Friday at 2:30 p. m.

Associate hostesses will include Mrs. L. E. Burleson, Mrs. E. M. Withers, Mrs. H. C. Stillings and Mrs. C. S. Brown.

College Club Luncheon

Members of the P. B. G. Bridge club will meet Thursday evening with Miss Catherine Babiarz, Pennsylvania avenue, instead of Friday as scheduled.

JUNIOR CLUB HEARS SPLENDID ADDRESS

Various phases of CWA and NRA work being done in the city, county and throughout the country were emphasized in a talk given last evening before the Junior B. P. W.

The speaker was Paul G. Dingley, assistant to General Manager L. B. Round of the Pennsylvania Power company, and as Mr. Dingley has most first hand information on the topic, his address was informative and quite interesting.

The meeting, which was held in a local tearoom, was in charge of the legislative committee. Dinner at 5:15 preceded the program and about 20 members were present. Miss Jo McGoun was a visitor.

In two weeks the club will meet again, the place to be announced.

DINNER AND THEATRE PARTY ON TUESDAY

Clawson club members enjoyed an innovation in their regular program Tuesday when they participated in a dinner party at a local tearoom. The table was prettily decorated with fragrant spring flowers and covers were arranged for ten. Mrs. Jack Dunlap and Mrs. Elmer Tintman formed the committee in charge.

In the afternoon, the women enjoyed a theatre party and it was planned to have the next regular meeting February 22, with Mrs. W. S. Caskey at Mt. Jackson.

"Am I describing a marriage troubled by quarrels, one in which the partners were perpetually at odds, one in which separation seemed almost imminent? By no means! The marriage was one with which both husband and wife were well content."

That husband was Louis XVI of France. That wife was Marie Antoinette. These sentences come from Stefan Zweig's fascinating "Marie Antoinette: Portrait of an Average Woman."

And I do not think this marriage of Louis and Marie was exceptional. A marriage between two such people, as dissimilar as these, has more chances for happiness than the marriage of two who are alike in every nerve and fiber.

You do not agree. But look around you at your unhappy and your happy marriages. . . . The happiest marriage is the one with the most variety and contrast and change and, even, strain. . . . Still, you do not agree? . . . Look around you once again.

HERE'S A FUNNY ONE We've been reading so much dry stuff about the monetary system and have listened to so much academic discussion on sound money, boloney money, inflation, deflation and reflation, that a touch of humor flicking the subject comes like a refreshing breeze on a day heavy with humidity. For the refreshing breeze we must go back to a time when a similar anaphoric condition pervaded the country. I refer back to a time when William Jennings Bryan had aroused the country by his agitation for silver. The late Senator Jones of Nevada, also a rabid silverite, had been addressing the Senate on the history of money as a medium of exchange. His speech was long and wearying. He had started from scratch and had now reached that period in the history of the world when oyster shells were accepted as coin of realm. It was at this point that Senator Hoar of Massachusetts, respectfully requested from Senator Jones, permission to interject a thought that had just come to him—a thought that couldn't well wait. Senator Jones, probably glad of an opportunity to give his voice a momentary rest, graciously granted the request. "The condition which the Senator of Nevada describes so interestingly," said Senator Hoar, his eyes twinkling behind his polished glasses, "must have been the perfect monetary system. Fancy a time when one could buy a dozen oysters, eat them and pay for them with the shells!"

The World At A Glance

Stabilization Not Here Yet Trying To Puzzle It Out Fear Of Speculation Arises

By LESLIE EICHEL Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—Stabilization isn't actually here, after all, the financial district is beginning to realize. Since the gold content of the dollar may be shifted at the president's will within a range of 50 to 60 per cent of the gold valuation, abrupt changes still may be decreed. It is feared that this again will cause uncertainty.

It is the re-establishment of the dollar on a gold bullion export basis has encouraged the flow of funds to New York once more—and all speculative elements are happy.

To those who do not understand the gold regulations now (and most of us do not), this was decreed last week.

The gold content of the dollar was fixed at 59.06 per cent of its old parity.

To keep the dollar down to that abnormally low figure in the currency markets of the world, the United States government is operating a two billion-dollar stabilization fund.

The price of gold was set at $35 an ounce, and banks were permitted to import it without license.

The Federal Reserve discount rate was cut.

All that—it may be frankly said—invited people into the speculative markets, for it is there that corporations sell their securities and raise funds to expand or carry on.

There isn't much talk any more of commodity dollars.

The recent moves are all toward vast credit inflation (expansion is the polite term). The effort is being made to invite Big Business to the credit trough and thus to start the wheels going.

So far, the invitation to bring one's load of gold to the United States has been successful—for the simple and obvious reason that wealth has been re-absorbed and because selling gold to the United States has become a profitable venture.

But this writer looks for gold embargoes abroad to be added to trade embargoes.

France will not permit itself to be drained any more than the United States permitted itself last year.

Fundamentally, this writer often has stated, it is not through speculative markets that the definite upturn will occur but through trade and exchange of services. And nations remain at daggers' points on that.

Thus, the road out—the real road as many economists see it—remains closed.

PARADOX The higher that speculative and commodity prices rise, the greater the amount of inflation we shall have at hand. These prices, in the end, can only remain up if sustained by actual trade. The problem is to capture the trade to sustain the prices—otherwise there will be a collapse.

Instead of that, nations scramble for gold, to own gold. A vast amount of gold, like a vast amount of anything else, actually is deflationary. Since we tie prices to such a commodity as gold, prices fall as inactive gold in storage accumulates.

If, however, we base money on some other commodity or commodities, prices again react to the turnover of those commodities in trade.

And when commodities would drop because of lack of demand, then the dollar would drop with them.

The old law of supply and demand defies all man-made statutes.

FEDERAL RESERVE Fear that the Federal Reserve bank will not be able to halt a dangerously speculative market is expressed by Professor Edwin Walter Kemmerer, of Princeton university, who has diagnosed money ills for many governments.

Professor Kemmerer points out that the U. S. treasury virtually has stripped the Federal Reserve bank of most of its functions. That has been done largely by taking over the Federal Reserve's gold reserves, by taking over the powers of gold import and export, by forcing the Federal Reserve to issue notes to meet the fiscal needs of the government instead of issuing notes to make an elastic currency for trade. If the Federal Reserve bank should try to contract credit now, it would ruin the government market for securities. Thus constant enlargement of speculative credit is favored. And the government itself can nullify any efforts of the Federal Reserve bank by issuing paper money in huge quantities itself.

It is probable, however, that this policy meets with the approval of the larger part of the population.

AL SMITH Those who have seen Al Smith lately say that he feels bitter—and defeated. He cannot understand these times—and doesn't trust them. He cannot see why people should follow a radio priest to "untried theories." Nor can he understand why, when he has accorded "fair treatment" to fellow men he should be made the target of "unfair aspersions." He does not make these comments, but they probably mirror his thoughts.

Historic Anniversaries 1598—Members of first permanent European colony in New Mexico, started for it. It was led by Don Juan de Onate, and consisted of 130 families, 10 friars and company of soldiers. Settlement was made in the valley of the Chama River, just above its junction with Rio Grande, 30 miles s. w. of Santa Fe (which was established 7 years later). New Mexico remained Spanish-Mexican for three times as long as it has been American.

1779—Col. George Rogers Clark, 27, and company of 170 started on the expedition which won the Mid-west from the British. Overcoming incredible difficulties, the "Hannibal of the West," forced the British under Lieut. Col. Henry Hamilton, governor of the Northwest Territory, to surrender Fort Vincennes. In the struggle Clark had only one casualty, a wounded man. Nor did his great services stop here, but there was no reward from his neglectful country and he died in poverty and obscurity at 66.

1845—One William Lloyd wondrously dashed to his the most celebrated and valuable production of ceramic art, the Portland Vase, and precipitated one of the greatest mysteries in history of art. (The pieces were miraculously fitted together, a several years' job, and the vase may be seen today.) But why was this work of art, worth perhaps $250,000, an object of destruction as it lay in the British Museum? Lord Nelson, it is said, nor did the unidentified gentleman of fashion who bought him out of punishment for the deed. (The Portland Vase took its name from Dukes of Portland who bought it 250 years after it was discovered in a sarcophagus in a sepulchre in the ruins of ancient Rome.)

1892—There were persons who doubted stories that telephone communication had been established today between Chicago and New York; it was just too much to expect them to believe that persons were being heard 1,000 miles away.

1934—Firemen rushed as far as 200 miles to battle the worst fire in American history. The $80,000,000 blaze which destroyed 1,500 dwellings and many stores, factories and piers in Baltimore, caused help to be summoned from fire departments in New York, Philadelphia and Washington.

In The "Good Old Days"—As late as the 19th century, actors as a class were refused Christian funeral rites and burial in consecrated ground. The body of Moliere, great French dramatist, was denied a grave in a Roman Catholic cemetery by Harlay, archbishop of Paris, because he had been an actor. Louis XIV asked the archbishop how deeply consecrated ground might run. The answer was 14 feet.

"Very good," said Louis, "then let Moliere's grave be dug 16 feet."

Forgotten Heroes Of Yesterday—William Kemp, first of the marathon dancers. At 17, in the reign of Queen Elizabeth, he danced from his native village to London keeping up his steps for nine days.

ENLISTING THE YOUTH

PRESIDENT Roosevelt will make a Nation-wide message to the Boy Scouts of America on Saturday. He will ask them to participate in projects directed at assisting the national recovery programme. This is a tribute both to the Scout organization and to the foresight of the President in enlisting the services of American youth in his programme of National rehabilitation. It should stimulate a desirable interest and sense of responsibility among these young Americans.

Boy Scouts were prominently active during the World War, creditably assuming a part of the national burden and carrying out a good work. A country-wide programme of activity promotes a healthy interest in the Scout work and is beneficial to its members.

Similar demands may well be made upon the organization at the present time. As usual, it stands "prepared."

PEANUT BY-PRODUCTS

The next time you crunch a peanut remind yourself that you are eating ink—also axle grease, wood stain and soap. Synthetic milk, cheese and breakfast food are other ingredients to toy with in your imagination. These things and nearly a hundred others are actually present in peanuts, according to discoveries made by a Tuskegee institute scientist, Dr. George W. Carver.

Equally important is the announcement that they can be obtained in commercial quantities at low cost.

The discovery should prove of particular interest to the South, where the peanut is grown. Should the claims made be fulfilled, the industrial life of that section may be greatly quickened and new sources of income for its farmers be provided by encouraging the cultivation of peanuts on a much larger scale than at present.

Peanuts eventually may rank near coal in the value of their by-products.

A BLOW TO DEFAULTING NATIOMS

If the bill passed by the House and now before the Senate becomes a law, eighteen foreign nations will face the alternative of paying the war debt due the United States or foregoing future private credit from this country.

The measure is a drastic one, but sometimes stern action is necessary when collection of debts is involved, as every business man knows. The bill provides for a maximum penalty of $10,000 and five years in prison for any individual or corporation who buys or sells any new issue of foreign securities. That would be a serious blow to the debtors, as the total of foreign issues sold in this country reaches a tremendous sum.

SAYS CLIMATE CHANGES OCCUR

The climate of Alaska is growing warmer, according to Prof. Robert F. Griggs of George Washington University. He finds evidence in the advance of the forest line into the treeless tundra at the rate of one mile per century, or around 52 feet a year. There is no spruce pollen in the bogs where spruce trees are now growing, which indicates that this is the first forest in that region since the glacial period ended, 20,000 years ago.

During the same 20,000 years, it is believed, the climate of Greenland has grown colder. Professor Griggs suggests that fact as the explanation of the disappearance of the Norse colonies which flourished there for more than 400 years, but vanished after 1410. Bodies of the ancient colonists are sometimes found in frozen soil, with tree roots grown entirely through them. If the ground had been as perpetually frozen then as it is now, trees would not have grown.

Such climate changes offer an interesting field of study. They make the reader wonder about climate changes all over the world, how long they will last and whether there are definite climate cycles over periods of thousands of years. Unfortunately, we can't stick around to find out.

ANTARCTIC HARDSHIPS

Included among the equipment of the Byrd expedition were stores and other things intended to make for the physical comfort of the explorer and members of his party while in the bitter cold of the Antarctic. With warmth thus apparently assured; a plentiful supply of food, including delicacies of different kinds, reading matter appealing to a variety of tastes and radio communication with home, it may not have seemed to an uninformed observer that the party was liable to find its stay in the far south a matter of great hardship and danger.

But radio dispatches in the last few days have shattered this impression, if it actually existed. Members of the expedition have had little opportunity so far to enjoy the comforts or luxuries that may be in their stores. They have been battling treacherous ice and bitter cold weather, while trying to get their stores to Little America. Part of their supplies were landed upon the ice to be transported to the permanent base. These almost immediately were threatened as the ice pack began breaking up. Day and night the men labored moving them a few miles farther up. The ship meanwhile was drifting in the Bay of Whales, unable to find safe anchorage due to the crumbling wall of ice.

Antarctic exploration is not what it was in the days when dog sleds were the only means of transportation, but it seems to have enough dangers and hardships to appeal to the most adventurous spirits.

CONCENTRATE—BUT RELAX

When it becomes necessary for you to concentrate, do you not make too much effort to do so?

If you are making a physical effort, do you not concentrate to the point where your muscular movements become stiff and devoid of rhythm?

If the effort is to be mental, do you not give more thought to the fact that you must concentrate than to the things about which you should concentrate.

You divide your thought and so the main object of your study comes out a poor second best.

There must be a concentrated relaxation in both mental and physical effort—or it might be termed relaxed concentration!

You can't force the mind to do its work.

Your muscle, every brain function must run easy and smooth.

The idea is to keep the mind attentively concentrated so that it will not wander.

It is necessary to be very much interested in what you are doing.

A happy interest and an openness of mind that will neither pinch the idea nor permit it to be lost through indolent looseness is required.

Unhappy attention cramps results.

Your Income Tax

NO. 9 WHO IS THE HEAD OF A FAMILY

A taxpayer, though single, who supports and maintains in one household one or more individuals who are closely connected with him by blood relationship, relationship by marriage, or by adoption, and whose right to exercise family control and provide for these dependent individuals is based upon some moral or legal obligation, is the head of a family, and entitled to the same exemption allowed a married person—$2,500. Also he may claim a $400 credit for each dependent. For example, a widower who supports in one household an aged mother and a daughter 17 years old is entitled to an exemption of $2,500 as the head of a family, plus a credit of $400 for each dependent, a total of $3,300. The $400 credit, however, does not apply to the wife or husband of a taxpayer, though one may be totally dependent upon the other.

Several factors are involved in determining whether a person who files a return as the head of a family is to be thus classified. The element of either legal or financial dependency must exist. A taxpayer who supports in his home minor children over whom he exercises family control is classified as the head of a family, even though the children may have an income of their own sufficient for their maintenance, by reason of their own income, but does exercise family control, he cannot be classified as the head of a family.

If an individual supported is an adult and there rests upon the taxpayer a moral or legal obligation to provide a home and care for such individual, the exemption as the head of a family is allowed, provided the individual is financially dependent.

Sir David Murray, R. A., told this story at a dinner of the Royal Institute of Painters in Water Colours.

He once knew a man called McAllister, who owned the only four-wheeled cab in the village of Tarbert. But the cab fell to evil days and ended amid the heather.

Soviet Russia Is Anxious To Pay On U. S. War Debt

Active Negotiations Have Been Resumed Between United States And Russia

RUSSIANS EAGER TO SETTLE UP

Also Seek Assurance Of Mutually Beneficial Trade During Debt Settlement

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Active negotiations have been resumed between the United States and Soviet Russia for a final settlement of the debt and damage claims.

Resumption of these negotiations has followed the action of Alexander Troianovsky, the Soviet envoy, in informally expressing to the State department the hope that settlement of the issue could be speeded so Soviet Russia could start paying some money on its debts and get the matter out of the way.

Eager To Pay

Troianovsky now is engaged in discussing with the State department the methods by which payments will be made.

The willingness of the Soviets to meet their obligations appears unquestionable. However, they desire a method of payment which will not involve them in complications with other nations who have debt claims against them.

Beneficial Trade

They also would like some assurance that mutually beneficial trade will be maintained between the two countries during the period of debt payments in order to aid them to finance such payments.

The most difficult task confronting the negotiators, is that of finding a method which will permit the Soviets to make the payments without placing themselves in the position of having formally recognized the old czarist debts, the recognition of which would involve them in enormous debt claim issues with other countries, especially Germany.

Two Good Methods

There are two methods which are regarded as possible solutions. One, now under consideration, provides for the payment of a large sum of money by the Soviets over a period of years to meet their "obligations" to the United States.

These obligations would not be defined specifically and this government would be at liberty to dispose of the payments as it desired. If it wished to distribute some of it to claimants to the $36,000,000 loaned by American financial institutions to the Czarist regime, the Soviets would not object providing the final settlement did not state that any part of the payments actually were to be used for this purpose.

Propounded By Stalin

The second method is based on a plan propounded some years ago by Joseph Stalin, the Soviet dictator. This provides that while the Soviet union refuses to recognize in principle the debts contracted by previous governments, it is prepared to pay an extra percentage for foreign credits or loans. This extra percentage would be placed in a fund to liquidate the old debts.

American quarters are inclined to favor the former plan if a satisfactory method can be worked out.

RUM STORES AND TEACHERS' SALARIES

New Castle, Pa., Feb. 5, 1934.

Editor, The News.

In a letter addressed to Governor Pinchot and recently made public, Mr. Frank Rohmer, president of the Pennsylvania Vocational association, remarks that something is "screwed" somewhere on Capitol Hill.

I believe that most of the people of New Castle will be interested in the sentiments to be found in a further perusal of the letter referred to. Our glorious commonwealth, says Mr. Rohmer, has gone in for education against booze via the front door and dispenses it to the citizens via the back door. The dispensers of education of high school level may be paid the magnificent salary of $900 per year to start and after long years of faithful service can work up to the munificent salary of $1440 per year.

A janitor in a state booze dispensary starts at $900, truck drivers $1600 and sales people anywhere from $2000 to $3000 leading up to the choice plums in Harrisburg at $5000. Not bad?

Maybe the reason for this is that those absorbing rum store products get a bigger kick out of the goods offered than those absorbing the experiences dispensed by the schools. I am sure there must be some tangible reason since Harrisburg is charged with the responsibility of both activities. Or maybe a truck driver gets $1600 because he can figure the area of a 60x30 roof, and a hooch wrapper get $2000 because he passed the requirements for a second story worker in determining lengths of ladders to reach certain heights from given distances. Or maybe these state employees have to attend additional elementary courses in mixology during their vacations to fit them better for their professional duties.

Not being an expert in matters or mathematics of relativity, perhaps some one can solve this problem: Teachers' salaries are based more or less on the law of supply and demand—there being an overproduction of teachers—so we are told: and there are 2500 rum store jobs available with 32,000 applicants; find how salaries are determined for the rum store jobs. Here is information to make the problem easier, teachers' salaries and rum store workers' salaries are both determined in Harrisburg. In drawing your conclusions remember it's a poor rule that won't work both ways.

Now my object is not to imply that rum store workers get too much. No, indeed. Any person with a functioning intelligence equal to the instruction of high school level should, in all logic, be worth $2000. And granting this is true, then pray tell me, what are the teachers of these people worth? The powers that be can't seem to know as indicated in the present salary set up.

From the looks of things our legislators and public administrative officials are more concerned about the current "rumfare" of its citizens than about their future welfare. If rum store workers' salaries are placed in reasonable brackets because the state wants people of integrity and character to handle its groceries, the implication then is that the character and sincerity of the teacher are a secondary consideration to the state fathers.

The answer to all this may be that the rum stores are run for profit and the schools are only a liability. And again you might say, these profits will run the schools. It's a funny thing there is no money for school taxes, but there is plenty of money available to provide nice fat rum profits, for school purposes. Granted that the schools cannot show specific profits in black figures. But here are the rum store jobs open only to those who are high school graduates—such persons being selected because of superior intelligence in order to assure the state a profit. Where would these developed intelligences have come from in the first place to furnish the profits without the schools?

Maybe another reason for this wide gap in government employees' salaries is that the commonwealth controls the rum stores from border to border, but have only a small finger in each local school set up. If this is true, and my observations are legitimate and reasonable, then the state can do something if it wants to. The local school districts are permitted to pay their teachers more than the minimum prescribed by the law of the commonwealth if they want to. However, more districts do not want to, and generally cannot, even if they want to. Their claim is that local tax resources cannot stand a heavier load and since local school taxes depend almost entirely upon property, this is too often tragically true. With state rum store profits and other state taxing resources still untapped, why cannot the state aid the local school district more generously than it does at present? This would put the teacher at least on a financial level, if not socially or professionally, with the purveyors of booze in the rum stores and grog shops of a great and dignified commonwealth.

Respectfully,

Stocking Of Fish Costs $652,770.35

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Feb. 7.—Pennsylvania streams and lakes in 1933 were stocked with a total of 540,833,211 fish and frogs commercially valued at $652,770.35, the fish commission reported today.

Included in the stocking were brook trout, trout fingerlings, bass fingerlings, pike perch, wall-eyed pike, pickerel, perch, minnows, catfish, sunfish, frogs, blue pike, lake trout and whitefish.

Those untidy habits come from jangled nerves

It's bad enough to look untidy—ill-groomed.

But it's twice as bad when you think that those nervous habits are a sign of jangled nerves... a friendly signal that says, "Find out what's the matter."

So, if you catch yourself musing your hair, biting your nails, chewing pencils—or suffering from any other of those countless little nervous habits—

Get enough sleep and fresh air—find time for recreation. Make Camels your cigarette. You can smoke as many Camels as you please, for Camel's costlier tobaccos never jangle your nerves.

COSTLIER TOBACCOS

TEST No. 16

Place a cork upside down on top of a bottle... Back up six paces... Extend your right arm and sight with your index finger... Walk rapidly toward the bottle, without wavering your arm... See if you can knock off the cork with the first flip. Most people try this test six times before they succeed.

Anton Lekang (Camel smoker), national 1932 ski jumping champion, flipped the cork off the first try.

On Court House Hill

Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard has received from the superintendent of the Allegheny county workhouse, some data relating to visitors which he has added to similar bulletins from other penal institutions, for the benefit of persons who have relatives in them. Allegheny workhouse prisoners are allowed visitors every thirty days on Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays. Mail to prisoners is to be addressed "Box 56, Blairnox, Pa. Mail is delivered after being censored.

Inmates may write one letter each month on Saturdays. They may receive gifts of money, handkerchiefs, tobacco, cigarettes, chewing gum, and candy. The merchandise enumerated may be purchased on the grounds.

County Commissioners held a conference yesterday with officials of the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad Company. Matters pertaining to valuations and taxes were the subjects up for discussion, the railroad company, asking some reductions.

Register of Graves, Thomas Edmunds, has received fifty discharge papers recently from World War veterans who wish to have them recorded at the register and recorder's office. This service is done free of expense to the veterans. Mr. Edmunds says that there are many more veterans who have not availed themselves of the opportunity to have their discharge papers entered. This is important due to the fact if the discharge paper is lost, there is always an authentic record of it at the register and recorder's office. During the past year a number of discharge papers of Civil War veterans and of Spanish American War veterans have been recorded.

More than 13,000 persons charged with violation of the Federal Prohibition laws, will be discharged in the United States following a supreme court decision handed down this week. Lawrence county court's beat the Federal government to it, as all the prisoners here who were charged with violations of the Prohibition laws, were discharged when repeal went into effect. The court held that there was no law under which they could be sentenced. Appeals involving this same question were carried to the supreme court, which has just handed this same question were carried to the supreme court, which has just handed down a decision, which fully sustains the action of local judges.

Papers in the appeal of County Controller R. C. McCaslin from the opinion of Judge R. L. Hildebrand, in the case brought by the Thayer Company to compel payment of commissions alleged to be due, have been sent to the supreme court at Pittsburgh. It is not known when a decision is likely to be handed down. Whether or not the appeal will hold up further action on the building of a new court house is now being discussed. It is known that FWA administrator Ickes knew of the litigation here and of the decision which was handed down by the local court.

the telephone is priceless. It links them with their scattered family and with friends too far to visit. It simplifies their round of daily tasks. It gives peace of mind—a sense of security.

A telephone costs so little—less than a dime a day—that it doesn't pay to be without one!

Whether or not the appeal will interfere with the plans of the county commissioners has not been announced.

The vault back of the sheriff's office is being given a thorough overhauling under the direction of Miss Martha Bieley, who has occasion to delve among the old records in getting out historical data for the state. Two colored gentlemen are taking down all the books, which are given a thorough cleaning. The shelves are then being washed, before the books are put back. Some of them which are of no value for anything, are being stored in the boiler house. There are also a lot of old books in the basement of the jail that may have to be hauled out in order to complete the historical roundup.

However as Attorney William McElwee explained to a group of attorneys at the court house yesterday, the local option vote which was taken, does not now prevent the sale of hard liquor, following repeal. This is under the control of the liquor board of the state, and it will be necessary to hold another local option election in order to put New Wilmington on the bone dry list.

LET LIGHT LIGHTEN YOUR TASK!

There is scarcely a task you can think of that doesn't require the assistance of your eyes. Yet dim or glaring lights rob them of their efficiency. If you are ironing; if you are washing dishes; if you are writing a letter; or reading a book; even if it is merely tending the furnace or going up the stairs, your eyes can either help or hinder you in your work. Give your eyes ample light, proper light and let them lighten your task. Light is probably your cheapest servant in the home or office. See to it then, that you have light, aplenty. But just as important, see to it that your lights are properly shaded and placed to give you light where you need it most. Correctly treated Light will lighten your every task.

LOCAL WOMEN TO AID SCOUT WORK

In the Englewood avenue home of Mrs. R. S. Tannehill, Tuesday, with Mrs. George S. Westlake, associate hostess, a number of women who are interested in Girl Scout work were entertained at a prettily appointed one o'clock luncheon.

The table was attractive with green and white decorations, scout colors.

A green and silver tree centered the table, and at each place were green drop nosegays with the scout emblem.

Covers were laid for Mrs. Harry W. McKee, Mrs. Ellwood Gilbert, Mrs. Carl Paisley, Mrs. C. A. Ingalls, Mrs. Robert C. Love, Mrs. A. E. Frankhouser, Mrs. W. P. Feich, Mrs. W. W. Duff, Mrs. Harry Gornley, Mrs. Westlake, Mrs. Tannehill.

After luncheon a round table discussion of future activities was held. The above group, with Mrs. Tannehill and Mrs. Westlake as leaders, of Troop 2, which meets 1st Highland U. P. church every Thursday evening, will act as sponsors of the troop and lend their aid to scout projects being planned.

Auxiliary Meeting.
The Daniel Leasure camp auxiliary met Tuesday evening in the Trades Assembly hall for a business meeting.

Committees appointed for the year included Margaret Whitacre, Josephine Hoover, Rose Porter, Violet Buell and Edna Vaughan as the executive committee.

The auditing committee includes Clara Hurlbous, Bessie Nessie and Mary Rae; the relief, Mary Davis, Jennie Tyler and Martha Carr; and the social, Josephine Hoover, Clara Hurlbous and Rose Porter.

Plans were made for the "Maine" dinner in conjunction with the Spanish War Veterans Thursday, February 15, which will be a tuition affair, with the auxiliary arranging the menu and the camp program.

Young Menorah Club
A delightful meeting of the Young Menorah club was conducted Monday evening at the Cosmo club.

A program of unusual interest, which included songs by Misses Harriet Wolfe and Helen Markley and poems by Misses Estelle Waldman and Jane Solomon, provided an evening of keen enjoyment for every member.

Plans were made for a card party and bridge to be conducted in the near future.

Delicious refreshments were served with Mrs. Sally Moss, the club leader, in charge.

A special meeting of the club will take place on Tuesday at Mrs. Moss residence on Boyles avenue.

Club Has Shower
Tuesday evening the members of the F. H. C. club assembled at the home of Mrs. C. W. Miller, Florence avenue, as a courtesy to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Klingensmith, bride and groom of recent date.

The guests numbered 27 and a lovely lot of gifts were given the honored ones in a miscellaneous shower.

Five tables of cards were in play during the evening and prizes were awarded Claire Shanon, Mrs. Edwin Davis and Mrs. Belle Hopwood. Refreshments of a delicious nature were served at a late hour.

Tuesday Kensington.
Mrs. J. Q. Roberts, Park avenue, was a most gracious hostess Tuesday afternoon when she received the members of the Tuesday Kensington club in her home for a luncheon, with Mrs. Dan Kennedy as associate hostess.

Following a delicious menu, the women spent the afternoon at fancy work and knitting, while a flow of conversation kept the hours moving swiftly.

Plans were made for a George Washington party February 20.

Evening of Bridge
Associates in the Re Delta Deck Club spent an enjoyable evening playing bridge Tuesday in the Northview avenue home of Miss Evelyn Bernine.

Prizes were won by Mrs. Sargent Smith and Mrs. Charles P. Walther. The hostess, Miss Clara Bernine, aided with a dainty lunch, which was served by candlelight.

February 20 Mrs. Sargent Smith will entertain at her home, 1033 Beckford street.

Plans were formulated for another fund raising event, Sally Aaronsen reported of the work of the Young Judeans and Rose Greenberg of the Young Judeans sang.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Valentine Party.
The regular meeting of the T. L. T. club Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Edward Roberts on Oak street, took the nature of a Valentine party. The hostess' daughter, Mrs. Gilkey, was a visitor with little Tommy Gilkey, aged 4, who entertained with speeches.

Valentine suggestions were used in luncheon details and Mrs. Gilkey assisted.

The place of meeting in two weeks will be named later.

O. G. Card Club
Miss Melba Brickner entertained the O. G. club at cards Monday evening. High scores were held by Mrs. Homer Measel and Mrs. Charles A. Brickner, Jr. During the evening, Mrs. Charles F. Kelleher was appointed treasurer.

In serving a delicious lunch, the hostess was assisted by her mother, Mrs. Charles F. Brickner.

February 21, the club will meet again, the place to be announced.

Valentine Party.
An exchange of Valentines featured the meeting of the T. O. T. club Tuesday evening with Miss Rose Ritchie of Grant street.

Cards served as the chief diversion with prizes going to Miss Coletta Preisel and Miss Goldie Householder. Miss Katherine Ritchie assisted with a very delicious lunch.

The next meeting will be in two weeks with Miss Goldie Householder of Richelleu avenue.

G. W. Club Affair
Two tables were used for the card games of interest to G. W. Club members Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Donald Miller on Florence avenue.

At the conclusion of play prizes were awarded to Mrs. Willis G. McGullen, Mrs. Edward Hill and Mrs. James J. Flynn. Mrs. Frank Miller aided with refreshments.

Announcement will be made of the next meeting.

Just 33 Club
Mrs. Ray Hall received the Just 33 club Tuesday evening in her home on Beckford street. Cards was the principal diversion with Mrs. Verne Carr and Mrs. Carl Douglas winning the favors. Miss Ruth Hamilton was a guest and was awarded a guest prize.

Mrs. J. R. Herzog invited the club to her home on Moody avenue, Wednesday February 21.

Young Girls Meet.
Games were popular amusements for H. B. club girls who met Tuesday evening in the home of Misses Marguerite and Betty Rick on North Ray street. Refreshments were an issue, the hostess' mother, Mrs. C. H. Rick, serving.

Next Tuesday evening Miss Maxine Schetrom of Scott street will be hostess.

New Bank Set Up By Roosevelt Would Lend Money To Importers-Exporters
(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—President Roosevelt has begun the process of setting up a bank backed by RFC funds, and charged with the work of backing America's international trade.

The institution will be established as a District of Columbia unit, and its capital will come through RFC purchase of its stock.

Mr. Roosevelt planned the bank with Russia particularly in view as an important buyer of American products. William Bullitt, this nation's ambassador at Moscow, was present, along with RFC chairman Jesse Jones, when Mr. Roosevelt first outlined the proposed bank.

The finance institution will operate by making short term loans in this country to importers and exporters engaging in foreign trade.

CHURCH FIRE LOSS $16,000
Holy Trinity Church At Swyersville, Pa., Is Destroyed By Flames

(International News Service)

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Feb. 7.—Fire swept the Holy Trinity church at Swyersville today, causing damage estimated at $15,000 and destroying eucharistic vestments worth $1,000.

The blaze broke out in the sacristy to the left of the main altar in the edifice and ate its way through partitions to the roof from where it spread toward the front of the building.

Aside from their monetary value, the destroyed vestments were highly prized for their opulent design. The Rev. John A. Karnish, pastor, to whom they belonged, said the garments could not be replaced.

The church was erected in 1916 at a cost of $75,000 and stands on the site of an edifice destroyed by fire in 1914.

COMING MONDAY, THREE DAYS ONLY, MISS FANE'S BABY STOLE

Fine Musical Work Done In Plaingrove Consolidated School

Among the schools in Lawrence County which go in for music intensively, is the Plaingrove Consolidated school in Plaingrove Township.

This year three musical organizations have been formed under the direction of Miss Eleanor Atkinson.

Glee Clubs

The Girls Glee club which meets every Tuesday, is now preparing for the Lawrence County music contests which will take place in the spring. There are 17 girls in the club. Those who compose the girls chorus are: Leora Houston, Elizabeth Grandey, Genevieve Miles, Mary Adams, Irene Wallace, Margaret Offutt, Anna Mae Houston, Agnes O'Tremba, Ada Cooper, Aileen McBride, Elizabeth Rodgers, Leora McComb, Luella Pollock, Elsie O'Tremba. Interest in music is spreading among the girls in the Plaingrove institution, according to Miss Atkinson.

In order to create interest in music among the boys of the school, a Boys' Glee club was started this year. Rehearsals are held every Monday afternoon. The following students make up the Boys Glee club: Melvin Houston, William Finnick, Dean McBride, Clair Hetrick, Walter Rodgers, James Pollock, Howard Cunningham, Frank O'Tremba, Alrick Miles, Harold Offutt, Dan Grundy, Walter Minor and Frank Guarnieri.

Orchestra Good

Besides the two Glee clubs, the Plaingrove school boasts of an orchestra, which they believe ranks among the best in the county. Miss Atkinson also supervises the orchestra. The following comprise the Plaingrove orchestra: first violins, Irene Wallace, Clair Hetrick, Clyde Adams; second violins, Elizabeth Rodgers, Ada Cooper, Betty Mae McComb.

First trumpet, Harold Offutt; second trumpet, Howard Cunningham; clarinet, Walter Rodgers; alto horn, James Dight; baritone horn, Alrick Miles; pianist, Leora McComb.

Four H Club

The "Four H Club" composed of girls, is another outstanding organization at Plaingrove. The purpose of this club is to create interest in domestic art. Miss Gertrude Eppinger heads this. The "Bee Club" which works out Nature Study projects, is another interesting function in Plaingrove Township institution.

Enrollment Greater

This year, according to W. L. Rainey, principal, the enrollment is 10% larger than last year. Some 207 students are attending.

On May 18, graduation day, a class of 12 students will receive diplomas from the Plaingrove school, Principal Rainey announced.

AROUND CITY HALL

The question, "Where did John Morze get the gun which he shot to death Rose Alough?" has elicited no answer from the detectives staff at the police station. The detectives won't give any information, believing it would be a give-away of part of their plan of prosecution. This brings up the question, "How do persons legitimately obtain revolvers in New Castle?" Before a person can buy a revolver he must first win the approval of the chief of police, according to a city hall informant. The would-be purchaser goes to a dealer. He makes application to buy a revolver and registers in triplicate form. The dealer keeps a copy and sends another to the chief of police. Providing the chief of police approves of the purchaser the gun is sold by the dealer. The dealer files his record, which contains the number of the gun, returns a copy to the chief of police and sends the third copy to a state bureau. These records furnish information as to the owner of the gun in case some crime is committed and the gun is found.

Police chronology for 24 hours ending 3:30 p. m. February 7; five arrests on charges as follows: violation of parking ordinances, two; intoxication, three.

It is reported that Attorney Roy Hazen, a member of the school board, will probably offer his resignation soon as a member of the city recreation board. Attorney Hazen has served for a long period and his services will be missed. Under the law two members of the board must be school directors and should the attorney carry out his intention of resigning another member of the school board will be named to his place.

Before the city presents projects to be done through CWA channels estimates of cost will be submitted in the future by Harry Hoskins, city engineer. The city had originally only $19,000, for tools and materials.

Should Mr. Citizen journey into the police station, city engineer's office or detective headquarters (about the patrol barn) and hear who to him sounds like wireless all he need do is to say "It's the Buzzer system." One cannot gain entry to the sergeant's office unless the sergeant sounds the "buzzer." If anyone in the engineer's office wants to converse with the head of the sewer brigade, Carmi Glover, one of the attaches of the engineer's department pushes the "buzzer." When a member of the detective force is wanted on the private telephone line the sergeant presses the "buzzer."

Add another patrolman to the list claimed by the Jinx, the policeman being Ray Showalter who rides the motorcycle. While cranking the "steed" it kicked and several tendons in his leg were torn loose. Not so long ago the young man spent some time in the hospital as the result of an accident at North Mill and North street.

Jimmie Thomas, assistant to the fire chief, almost lost his temper a few days ago when a man from out-of-town attempted to ridicule the local fire department. Before Jimmie finished with the gentleman, he pointed out that the city, where the man said they had a much better fire department, had much higher fire insurance rates and two or three less fire department houses than New Castle despite the fact that the city boasted of more than twice the population of New Castle.

Should the condition of B. F. Butler continue to improve he will attend councilmanic meeting, Friday at city hall. The director of streets and improvements has been ill almost two weeks. In the meantime his department is carrying on with the aid of councilmanic colleagues.

The Transients' bureau is now in operation here, according to Karl Wright, lieutenant of Baltimore & Ohio police who visited the city police station yesterday. He said that when trespassers from other states are apprehended on Baltimore & Ohio property they are given the privilege of being taken to the Transient bureau, 107 North Mill street. He said it is his understanding that when they are from foreign states the transient bureau uses government funds to send them to their home state.

It's hard to be a good citizen when the government can make you an outlaw just by deciding you can't have something you've got.

History repeats itself. The Children of Israel were loyal to their leader so long as they got manna from Heaven.

Mothers, Mix This At Home for a Bad Cough
Needs No Cooking! Big Saving!

You'll be pleasantly surprised when you make up this simple home mixture and try it for a distressing cough. It's no trouble to mix, and costs but a trifle, yet it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water for a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any drugstore, put it into a pint bottle, and fill up with your sugar syrup. The pint thus made gives you four times as much cough remedy for your money, yet it is far more effective than ready-made medicine. Keeps perfectly and tastes fine.

This simple remedy has a remarkable three-fold action. It soothes and heals the inflamed membranes, loosens the germ-laden phlegm, and clears the air passages. Thus it makes breathing easy, and lets you get restful sleep.

Pinex is a compound of Norway Pine, in concentrated form, famous as a healing agent for throat membranes. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

WHY CAN'T I MAKE FRIENDS

Poor little Secretary, she was Friendless, Unpopular—UNTIL a bit of Friendly Advice from the Hostess of a Girls' Club helped her...

IT'S THAT QUESTION OF PERSPIRATION ODOR IN UNDER-THINGS. TELL ME, DO YOU LUX YOURS EVERY DAY?

OH, MRS. CARSON, I DON'T! BUT I'LL NEVER BE CARELESS AGAIN

THAT NIGHT

HOW DREADFUL TO THINK I'VE OFFENDED THAT WAY. I KNOW LUX TAKES AWAY PERSPIRATION ODOR, YET FROM NOW ON I'LL LUX UNDIES AFTER EACH WEARING

SEVERAL MONTHS LATER

OH, MRS. CARSON, THIS IS TED—WE'RE JUST GETTING UP A PARTY

RUN ALONG, AND HAVE A GRAND TIME, BOTH OF YOU, WITH ALL THOSE NICE FRIENDS OF YOURS

AVOID OFFENDING

Underthings absorb perspiration odor. Protect daintiness this way...

Don't let perspiration odor in underthings spoil your popularity. We all perspire, and underthings absorb perspiration odor, but we needn't offend others.

It's so simple to Lux underthings after every wearing! Lux takes away odor, yet saves colors.

Ordinary soaps often contain harmful alkali which fades color and weakens silk. Lux has no harmful alkali, and with Lux there's no injurious cake-soap rubbing. Anything safe in water is safe in Lux.

LUX removes perspiration odor from underthings—Saves colors

Lists Five Rules To Make Roads Of Pennsylvania Safe

Governor's Committee On Safety Says Motorists Can Avoid Most Crashes

HARRISBURG, Feb. 7.—Emphasizing that good judgment will greatly reduce motor vehicle accidents, the governor's committee on street and highway safety today said motorists can eliminate one out of every two mishaps by following five simple rules.

"Last year 43 per cent. of the accidents resulted from five causes," the committee said. "Out of 45,374 accidents 10,533 operators were driving too fast for conditions; 4178 were on the wrong side of the road; 1735 were cutting in and out of the flow of traffic; 1514 failed to signal and 1604 did not stop at through streets."

"From these figures it is evident that motorists can prevent half the annual total of accidents by following five simple rules:

- "1. Let safety and good judgment govern your speed.
- "2. Keep on the right side of the road.
- "3. Don't take chances in cutting in ahead of the other fellow.
- "4. Obey the stop signs at through streets.
- "5. Signal your intentions to the drivers behind you."

Four Applicants Pass Operator's Test

Those Who Take Test After February 15 Will Receive 1934 Card

Four applicants passed and four failed when the State Highway patrol conducted tests of prospective operators of motor operators in Sampson street Tuesday.

The names of those who passed follow: William J. Davis, 1425 West Washington street, city. Henry Booher, R. D. 7, city. Ross M. Russell, Bessemer. Charles Snell, 472 Franklin avenue, Aliquippa.

Providing persons who have learner's permits take the examination up to February 15, their operator's licenses will expire this month. However, providing they take the operator's test after February 15, they will receive 1934 operator's cards, according to the State Highway patrol.

No More Gas In Stomach and Bowels

If you wish to be permanently relieved of gas in stomach and bowels, take Baalman's Gas Tablets, which are prepared especially for stomach gas and all the bad effects resulting from gas pressure.

That empty, gnawing feeling at the pit of the stomach will disappear as the anxious, nervous feeling with heart palpitation will vanish, and you will again be able to take a deep breath without discomfort. That drowsy, sleepy feeling after dinner will be replaced by a desire for entertainment. Bloating will cease. Your limbs, arms or fingers will no longer feel cold and "go to sleep" because Baalman's Gas Tablets prevent gas from interfering with the circulation. Get the genuine in the yellow package, at Price's or any other good drug store. Price $1.

Students Hope To Own Piano

Before the present school year terminates, the pupils of the Harlansburg high school hope to own a piano which they purchased three years ago.

Three years ago the pupils decided to buy a piano and pay for it through their theatrical ability. Two or three plays a year were staged. After each play, the profits were paid on the piano. Today the Scott Township scholars own most of the piano. Before school closes the pupils are going to stage another play.

If they can raise $35 through the presentation, the piano will be the property of the Harlansburg pupils. The students are confident that they will derive enough money out of the play, to finish paying for the piano.

RELIEF LOAD IS HALF LAST YEAR'S

CWA And Improving Conditions Are Factors; Now 2,400 Cases

The Lawrence County Emergency Relief board's case load today is just half as heavy as it was a year ago, according to Dr. G. S. Bennett, the board's chairman.

Instead of 4,800 families, the approximate total of the load last February 1, there are 2,400 families of the county dependent upon the board at the present time. He estimated that the 2,400 families would mean that slightly over 10,000 are receiving help.

"There are a number of reasons contributing to this reduction," Dr. Bennett declared, "the most important of which is the CWA work."

He pointed to the improved business of the city's tin mills and other plant, during the pre-Christmas period, to improved business in the Ellwood City Tube mill and to general improvements about the county—he figures conditions are 25 percent better than last year—as other contributing factors to the drop.

Council Meets At New Wilmington

Recreational Board Is Created—Other Matters Given Consideration

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Feb. 7.—On Monday night Burgess McKean and councilmen Minner, Pitzer, Neal, McLaughry, Anderson and Shawkey met for their regular monthly meeting in the firehouse.

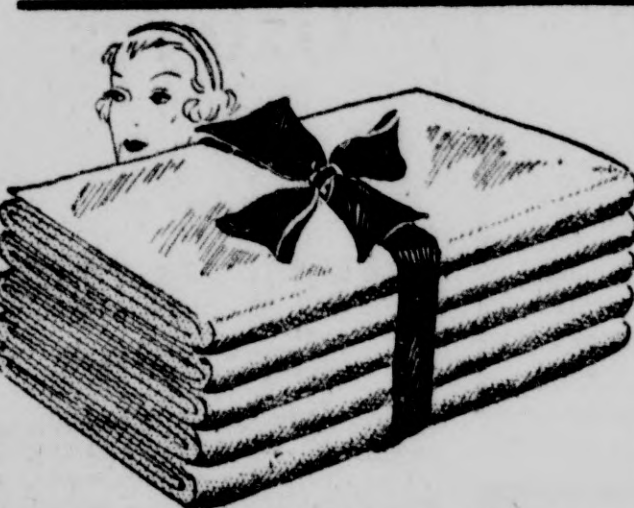

Wilbert Anderson appeared before council and presented a petition of the New Wilmington Junior Fire company asking that council pay the insurance fee that the organization underwrites for its members. Council unanimously voted to pay the premium.

Council discussed the advisability of creating a Recreational board to have charge of all playgrounds, and all properties owned or leased by the town for sports or other recreational purposes. Council then proceeded to create such a board, and appointed Dr. Galbreath, H. L. Patton and Dr. H. M. Hart as its members.

Dr. H. M. Hart, president of the school board, appeared before council and presented a petition of the school board urging that traffic regulations be adopted for Church street, due to the congestion in the

Throng At Y. W. To Hear Scotch Girl's Lecture

'Dictatorship And Revolution' Theme Of Jennie Lee's Message

FRENCH SITUATION DRAWS ATTENTION

Terror-stricken France today is in danger of "jumping out of the frying pan into the fire" according to Jennie Lee, 29-year-old Scotch girl who in 1929 was elected to the British parliament and who spoke on the League for Industrial Democracy's lecture course before a capacity audience in the Y. W. C. A. auditorium last night.

The attractive former parliamentarian took "Dictatorship and Revolution" as her subject and during the evening's discussion mentioned of the tense French developments was made.

"France," continued Miss Lee, "has been profoundly shocked within recent weeks by the exposure of graft in high places and the revelation of the Stavisky $30,000,000 bank scandal has brought the nation to a mood of disgust." Miss Lee characterized the Stavisky scandal as the "knockout blow" of the growing disgust among the people.

French 'Cry For Leader' She reported the French as "crying for a leader" and said that a dictatorship would please a large section of the people; she warned that to turn to Fascism would mean to "jump into the fire."

The greater part of Miss Lee's timely and stirring message reviewed the major political developments in what she termed "the nerve centers of Europe"—Germany, Russia and so on. Time and time again she referred to her own Great Britain.

War, she told her audience, is now thought possible between Germany and Russia not particularly between Germany and France.

Roosevelt Referred To

Of the European view of President Roosevelt, Miss Lee declared: "We see Mr. Roosevelt as an honest liberal who is sincere. It is interesting to watch developments to watch Roosevelt make negotiations between capital and labor. It's interesting to watch capital make concessions to labor and labor to capital. We think he has been temporarily successful but so far as any fundamental gains are concerned we can only see few."

And then, abruptly, Miss Lee told the audience that "we're very much afraid that he'll end up with a broken heart."

Miss Lee inferred that the industrialists are not "approving of everything" and said that the president could not go on indefinitely being on both capital's and labor's side.

At the close of her prepared address Miss Lee, now a member of the editorial staff of the "New Leader" in London, soon to be admitted as the first Socialist woman to the English bar, answered a round of questions propounded by the audience.

Herbert Kirk, who introduced the speaker, presided over the forum. Next Tuesday evening Baruch C. Viadeck, managing editor of the Jewish Daily Forward, leading foreign language newspaper in the United States, will deliver a lecture. Announcement of the hall to be used that evening will be made through the press.

Two Women And Male Companion Held By Police

Charge Trio With Robbing Of Salesman At Party, Victim Was Doped, He Claims

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 7.—Two attractive 32-year-old women and their male companion today were under arrest as alleged thieves on charges made by Wayne Smith, a New York salesman.

Smith told police the trio roped him to a chair at a party after he had consumed a doped drink and robbed him of $200 and a watch valued at $800.

The women identified themselves as Myrtle Flynn, and Enid Joerns, of Omaha, Neb., the man described himself as Joseph Evans, 25, of Philadelphia. He said he met the women in a Chicago speakeasy.

N. A. A. C. P. Plans Anniversary Meet

Colored People Will Observe Quarter Century Of Organization's Progress

The New Castle branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People is observing the 25th anniversary of the organization Monday evening, February 12, in the Union Baptist church, Grant street, at 8 o'clock.

An interesting program has been arranged, with Attorney Walter W. Braham giving the main address of the evening. The Rev. C. D. Henderson will review the work of the N. A. A. C. P. during the 25 years.

Special music will include solos by Mrs. Bernice Webber and Thomas Cunningham.

The committee arranging the affair includes Mrs. Blanche Dillard, Dr. James A. Gillespie and Thomas Cunningham.

South Side Youth Injured On Tuesday

Small Boy Runs Into Fender Of Car On Corner Of Pollock And Long

Bob Stafford, 7 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stafford, of 333 East Long avenue, is in a semi-conscious condition in the New Castle hospital, the result of an automobile accident Tuesday afternoon about 5:30 o'clock, on the corner of East Long and Pollock avenues.

According to several persons who saw the accident, the Stafford boy ran from behind a parked car into the fender of the car driven by Marion E. Reno, of R. F. D. No. 7. The youth was brought to the hospital by J. B. Snyder, of 406 Mesanock avenue. He was unconscious when taken to the hospital, yesterday afternoon.

He was hurt about the head. This morning he was reported to be in a semi-conscious condition. He is expected to recover.

Prospects Brighten For New Armory Here

Senior Reserves Looking Forward To Coming Confab

From the tone of a letter received today from Adjutant-General David J. Davis, it can be reasonably assumed that the armory for Troop F will be built within the near future out of Federal moneys borrowed by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The current issue of "The Pennsylvania Guardsman" states that certain armories are to be built and mentions New Castle as having the plans practically complete. A letter was addressed to the Adjutant-General asking him if this information was authentic and if the New Castle armory was to be built soon.

The letter of today which follows seems to indicate action as soon as the commonwealth gets the two million dollars Federal loan.

The Adjutant General's Office, Harrisburg, February 6, 1934.

Hon. Bart Richards, New Castle, Penna.
My Dear Mr. Richards:

The article in "The Pennsylvania Guardsman" referred to in your communication of the 5th inst., is substantially correct.

You will recall at the last session of the Legislature a Bill was passed authorizing the construction of public works from funds to be received from the United States, and of this amount approximately two million dollars was set aside for construction of armories, and if and when this money is available you can rest assured that the Armory Board will go along with the armory at New Castle, at least they always have, and New Castle stands high on the priority list established by the Armory Board.

Very sincerely,
DAVID J. DAVIS,
The Adjutant General

Foster Homes Are Now Being Provided For Wanderers Here

Transient Bureau Of Relief Board Functions To Check 'Roamers'

Local foster homes have been found for a number of transients who have accepted help offered by the Lawrence County Emergency Relief board's new transient bureau.

Miss Anne C. Sickafoose, director of the bureau said today: "Under a new federal set-up transient divisions have been organized in all cities to check the heavy flow of wanderers all over the country. By persuasion the bureaus are seeking to convince the travellers that they should stop roaming and settle somewhere."

Miss Sickafoose reported that during January 12 cases of New Castle men, contacted by transient bureaus in other cities, had been reported to her. Disposition of those cases is still pending.

"The government wants to check the travellers about the country," explained the director, "and so these transient bureaus have been set up. Each community now is realizing that it must keep a certain number of transients who come to it rather than hurry them on. Nowadays, the transients don't know what to make of it when they're invited to stay over a day or so rather than told to move along in the morning."

Miss Sickafoose said that the homes to which transients are taken are first assured that the men are of a high type. They must undergo a medical examination before the foster home is furnished. Police authorities here are co-operating with the board in an effort to direct roamers to the transient bureau.

Stream-Line Train To Go Through City

Newest Innovation In Railway Equipment Will Go Over B. And O. Line

Officials of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad here have received word that the newest development in train design, the stream-line train of the Union Pacific railroad, will pass through New Castle, enroute to Washington, D. C., on February 12.

The train is being sent to Washington where it will be placed on exhibition before being put in service on the lines of the Union Pacific in the west.

CHEWTON

CLASS MEETING
The Loyal Daughters class of the Chewton Christian Sunday School will hold a business meeting Friday evening, February 9, at the home of Miss Mary Aiken.

ENTERTAINS AT HOME
Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Brown entertained a few friends at their home Saturday evening. Games and social chat were the diversions of the evening and a suitable hour ice cream and cake were served for lunch. Those enjoying the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Russell Murphy and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ira L. Stewart and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Brown and family, Miss Dorothy Bogle of New Castle, and LaRue Bogle of Akron, were special guests.

GIRL SCOUTS

COUNCIL MEETS
Tuesday evening the New Castle Girl Scout council met at the home of Mrs. W. H. Hanger, Wallace avenue, to discuss scout activities. Mrs. Ruth Ferver and Miss Emily Rice were added to the council membership.

Reports were given of the recent training course, which was most successful. Plans were made for a field institute April 13, and a round table conference for leaders April 14. The regional conference will be held May 21, 22 and 24.

Mrs. Earl Guy gave a report from the Leaders' association. It was deemed advisable by the council to have all council members trained in scout work, this to begin immediately, with an investment service at the close of the training period. Mrs. H. S. Christman is in charge of this work.

TROOP 2
Troop 2, Girl Scouts, will meet as usual Thursday evening at 7:30 in the Highland U. P. church.

Lacquered copper will keep in good condition if occasionally rubbed with a cloth dipped in kerosene.

Bergdoll Upheld By His Mother In Plea To Roosevelt

Mrs. Emma Bergdoll Asks President To Allow Son Grover To Return To U. S.

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 7.—Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, exiled millionaire draft dodger, was the victim of suspicions that he was a German spy and was therefore rejected when he tried to enlist as a United States army flyer during the war.

This revelation was made here today by Bergdoll's 73-year-old mother, Mrs. Emma Bergdoll, who has petitioned President Roosevelt for a pardon for her son.

"Grover never feared anything," said the white-haired mother who lives in the hope that her son and his family may be permitted to return to the United States from Germany.

"Danger always appealed to him. Long before he faced the draft he volunteered to serve the United States in aviation. He was one of the first flyers in this section and he was a good pilot."

"My boy always bore a passionate love for the United States. It was the land of his birth. Although exiled, Grover has not renounced his allegiance to this country. He still is an American and would serve the colors today if war endangered our country."

CAR DAMAGED
Anthony Frank, 834 1/2 East Washington street, stopped his car this morning in East Home street, at the intersection of South Mill street and an auto carrying Pennsylvania license 82127, which entered East Home street, struck his car, according to a police report.

Vets Post Will Meet This Evening

Expect Membership Increase Through Service Being Rendered Veterans

Harry L. McBride Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will meet this evening in the Legion Home Association building, when a large attendance is looked forward to.

Membership in the post is expected to be stimulated through the service being rendered by the post to local veterans, many applications for the state bonus having been filed through the post service department, established at the Legion Home.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars consistently advocated payment of the state bonus and through their legislative bureau, assisted in framing the law which was finally passed last year.

PUSH DRIVE FOR FURTHER CWA APPROPRIATIONS

Expect Action Within 3 Days

Report President Willing To Have CWA Extended
If Necessary

SENATE IS READY TO PUSH MEASURE

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—President Roosevelt is willing to continue operations of the Civil Works Program beyond May 1, the date originally scheduled for its end, if conditions at the time warrant such action.

This became known at the White House today as administration leaders in the senate pushed a drive to enact the 950 million dollar CWA appropriation within the next three days.

Mr. Roosevelt has studied conditions and is reluctantly leaning toward the belief that unless the normal spring employment pickup brings startling results, extension of the CWA will be justified.

The new appropriation must be enacted into law this week to keep 4,000,000 citizens on Civil Work projects. The funds now on hand, which were only $40,000,000 last Saturday, will be exhausted by the end of the week.

Seek To Boost Fund
A bipartisan group sought to gather support for an amendment, increasing the total appropriation to $2,500,000,000. They would use $2,000,000,000 of this total for Civil Work projects and $500,000,000 for direct relief. This campaign was led by Senators LaFollette (R) of Wisconsin and Cutting (R) of New Mexico.

Administration leaders announced they would oppose the increased sum. The same attitude was taken by administration leaders in the house Monday when that body approved the $950,000,000 appropriation. At both ends of the Capitol, it was stated President Roosevelt would be satisfied with the smaller sum.

Federal Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins declared the $950,000,000 appropriation was sufficient to keep the CWA going until "well into the summer."

The president was represented as being determined to keep expenditures within the limits laid down in his budget message. In requesting congress for emergency appropriations, Mr. Roosevelt asked a free hand in allocating them. For instance, he could use part of the $1,166,000,000 emergency appropriation which he seeks, for continuance of C. W. A. This fund was asked as a lump sum, without rigid directions as to the particular phase of the recovery program to which it should be applied.

The need for the Civil Works funds was considered so urgent Senator Robinson (D) of Arkansas majority leader, announced the 950 million dollar bill would be given the right of way over all other legislation.

Lieut. Governor Shannon To Speak

Will Be Guest At University
Women's Meeting In New Wilmington

Announcement was made today that Lieutenant-Governor Edward C. Shannon, who is also the commanding general of the Pennsylvania National Guard will speak in New Wilmington on Thursday night, February 15, under the auspices of the New Wilmington chapter of the American Association of University Women.

The meeting will be held in the college chapel of Westminster and is open to the public. At present time General Shannon is in the public eye as a probable candidate for the governorship of Pennsylvania. He has been in Lawrence county before, his last trip being on Armistice Day 1933.

While his subject for the evening has not been announced it is assumed that it will be a topic of interest to the college women sponsoring the meeting. The probabilities are that the college chapel will be filled to capacity to hear him on February 15.

Car Shops Will Call Men Back At Johnstown

Order For $1,703,700 Placed
By Nickel Plate For New Gondola Freight
Cars

(International News Service)
JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Feb. 7.—Five or six weeks work is necessary for the proper rehabilitation of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation Cambria car shops before work can be started on an order for 665 gondola freight cars for the Nickel Plate road.

The total order amounts to $1,703,700. It was expected today that between 500 and 600 men will be called back to work in the shops as the order will require several months' work on the production end and other departments will also pick-up as a result.

General Manager L. R. Custer revealed that with the car shop section of the plant stepping up it was not unlikely that increased operations would be noted in the open hearth, plate mill, blooming mill, bar mill and wheel and axle plants at almost any time.

Canadian Speaks To Wolves Club

Ross Is Named As Secretary Of Club Succeeding Mr.
Carbon

Members of the Wolves club listened to an interesting address and saw several reels of moving pictures, presented by F. Folger, Travel Bureau director, of Ontario, Canada, in the Castleton hotel Tuesday night.

David Valensi introduced Anthony Marino, chairman of the program committee, following dinner. Mr. Marino in turn presented Mr. Folger, who started his address by telling of the points of interest in Canada.

Following the lecture Mr. Folger showed several reels of films. The moving pictures showed how gold is mined and "trout fishing." Because of the promotion of A. N. Carbon to Pittsburgh, Sam Ross has been appointed new secretary of the Wolves club. It was announced last night. The next meeting of the Wolves club will take place on Tuesday evening, February 20.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy cheeks—sparkling eyes—most women can have. Dr. F. M. Edwards for 20 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave his patients a substitute for calomel made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients, naming them Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. Know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, causing a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system. If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, take one of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets—now and then to keep fit. 15c, 30c and 60c.

PLAYS DRAW CROWD

Two one-act plays presented by a group of young players from the Christian Endeavor society Tuesday evening brought loud applause from the huge crowd that comprised the audience at the Mahoning Presbyterian church. The plays were ably directed by Mrs. Frank Hamilton. They will be repeated at the church Thursday evening.

Music for the evening was furnished by the Sunday school orchestra.

"The Obstinate Family," a sequence of events taking place in a room of the Harford villa, had the following cast of characters: Lucy, a servant, Jean Hamilton; Mrs. Harford, Neurisa Thompson; Mr. Harford, Jack Holliday; Henry Harford, Frank Hamilton, Jr.; Jessie Harford, Margaret Wilkison, and James, a servant, David Bender.

"More Than a Million," taking place in the living room of the Thatcher home, had the following cast: Mrs. Thatcher, a widow, Emily Turner; her children Edith Carnes, Tom Schanby, Marjory Fisher, Jack Holliday and George Horchler, Jr.; Mr. Robinson, a lawyer, George Maud.

SHARON BOND PLAN DRAWS PROTESTS

SHARON, Pa., Feb. 7.—City council today received two protests, with alternative plans, on its proposed bond issue of $90,000 to finance the city's share of expenses for civil works projects. Both were taken under consideration. Attorney J. M. Lanning urged that the bond issue be delayed until the city can offer taxpayers the advantages of the 1933 tax penalty abatement law, which he believes, will bring in enough revenue to make the bond issue unnecessary.

Message From Rev. C. S.
Joshua States

After spending the past six months in England, where she accompanied her daughters, Betty and Ruth, who are studying at the Royal Academy of London, Rev. Margaret Joshua, wife of Rev. C. S. Joshua, pastor of the Croton M. E. church, arrived back in the United States Tuesday. The boat on which she made the return passage, the Olympic, docked at eight o'clock Tuesday morning, a message received by friends here today stated.

Earl Williams of this city, who is in New York on a business mission, was among those present at the dock to greet Mrs. Joshua on her arrival. Others in the party, in addition to Rev. Joshua, were Mr. and Mrs. Frank of New York, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Blake and Mr. and Mrs. James Edmunds of Nanticoke.

After spending a few days in Nanticoke resting up following the voyage, Mrs. Joshua will return home here on Saturday and will be guest of honor at a reception in the church Saturday evening at eight o'clock.

Monroe Presents Figures In Issue Of Ellwood Bonds

Facts Are Presented Before Foremen's Club At Special Meeting Here; Tables Show Procedure In Repayment Of Loan To Federal Government

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 7.—Borough Manager L. W. Monroe, assisting former Councilman G. H. Morrison, in presenting facts and figures of the proposed bond issue for the building of a new municipal building and swimming pool in Ellwood City, to the Foremen's club at a special session in the Shelby club house Monday evening, presented a clearly understandable chart on how the money will be borrowed from the Federal government and how it will be repaid.

As Mr. Monroe continued with his explanations, members of the club would interrupt to ask questions. The following facts and figures were presented by Mr. Monroe:

Population of Ellwood as estimated by postal authorities 11,500. Assessed valuation for 1932 was $8,373,850, which is approximately 40 percent of the actual value.

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 7.—When members of the Ellport borough council convened in regular session last evening in the basement of the Magyar Presbyterian church, the president, Charles Hazen, appointed the committee which will serve during the ensuing year.

Those named were: streets, Andor Harsany, chairman, Fred Ruby and John Partridge; utilities, William Rutter, chairman, George Horvath and Clarence Hollerman; purchasing, John Partridge, chairman, Andor Harsany and William Rutter; sewers, John Horvath, chairman, Fred Ruby and William Rutter; finance, Clarence Hollerman, John Partridge and Andor Harsany; fire, Fred Ruby, chairman, Clarence Hollerman and George Horvath.

The final reading of the resolution to raise the salary of the burgess to $200 per year was read and a motion carried to accept the resolution.

Mrs. John Partridge, a school directress, was appointed to serve as a member of the health board for a period of five years.

A motion was made that a committee investigate the CWA project of registering deeds in Ellwood City and endeavor to have a like project approved by the county administrator for the borough of Ellport.

A complaint concerning the roughness of a number of streets was presented and referred to the street committee. In a short time the streets will be asked.

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 7.—Opposition to the proposed construction of a new municipal building and swimming pool in the Borough of Ellwood City was voiced by J. W. C. Offutt, general superintendent of the local National Tube company, at a meeting of the Foremen's club of that plant Monday night in the Shelby club house.

Mr. Offutt urged the large turnout to give careful consideration to the situation before going to the polls next Tuesday. He declared that it was no time yet to start increasing taxes, which was the inevitable result of the bond issue for the municipal building and swimming pool. The people cannot yet afford this increase. "This is no time to be mortgaging ourselves to the danger point," Mr. Offutt stated. He pointed out that in 1931 there was 19 percent of uncollected taxes. The following year there was 37 percent. He especially stressed the point that the Steel Car Forge company, one of the major manufacturing plants of the city, is soon removing to Butler, Pa. This will considerably reduce the tax evaluation in Ellwood City.

Mr. Offutt stated that he was in sympathy with the borough council and held high praise for their ability and accomplishments, and was in accordance with their sentiments. "There is a better way out than building a new municipal building, taxing the people, and mortgaging the borough," he stated. He urged the repairing of the Central school for this purpose. The school belongs to the borough.

The opinion of Mr. Offutt continued, "that the Central school property is too valuable as an asset to the borough as revenue in the future, is not true." He pointed out that there were a number of buildings available on main street for merchandising purposes. The city does not need any more stores at present. "In the future if more store space is required the city could erect another building on the Central school lawn and have the two buildings joined by a hall. This could be rented, and in view of its location, would bring nice revenue. Within years to come a new municipal building was needed. The fund for this could come from the above revenue."

Mr. Offutt doubted whether there would be a reduction of the assessed valuation of the borough, since it is too low now in comparison with other municipalities. He hoped that there would be an equalization of the valuation over all the wards here.

The speaker was in hearty accord with the Board of Education in applying for funds to build a new wing to the local high school. This would eliminate use of the Central school which is located on the main thoroughfare, and thus endangering the lives of the children. He stated that the board's application for funds was a necessary and legitimate request. He pointed out that the more the local school system is centralized the lower the cost of administration and maintenance will be.

If the purpose of the PWA is to provide work for the unemployed, which it is, it would be more reasonable for local citizens to favor disposing of out-of-date school buildings, and then constructing additional wings to the Lincoln high school, the speaker asserted. The buildings had in mind were the Circle and West End schools.

Mr. Offutt expressed his doubts on the statement that the proposed swimming pool would be self-liquidating. He pointed out a number of pools in the surrounding district that are operating at a loss.

In closing, Mr. Offutt urged the assembly to consider the entire situation from their own individual standpoint before going to the polls next Tuesday.

Offutt Opposed To Bond Issue

Says People Cannot Afford Tax Increase; Urges Repairing Of Central School

The Governor Says

What Is Going On
In Harrisburg—
And Why

By GIFFORD PINCHOT
Governor of Pennsylvania

Pennsylvania is operating with a balanced budget. That means the Commonwealth pays as it goes—pays out only as much as it takes in—and yet Pennsylvania has appropriated the enormous sum of $87,000,000 for unemployment relief. I may have the shingles but the roof of the Commonwealth is tight and water-proof.

Every Pennsylvanian can toss up his hat over this balanced budget. The Commonwealth is living within its income and that can be said of mighty few governments in the Nation today.

Moreover, Pennsylvania has practically no public debt, outside of the highway bonds, which are paid for from special highway funds and cost the general taxpayer nothing. Our public debt is only $9.78 per capita. New York's public debt is $28.10 per capita; that of Illinois is $27.59, New Jersey $24.75, and Maryland $20.72.

With even more extraordinary expenses possible in the next two years the Budget officer estimates a surplus of nearly a million in the general fund on the first of June, 1935. And that is going some.

Unless the state's present relief appropriations, plus the federal government's help, plus CWA and PWA is not enough to carry Pennsylvania's relief burden until the end of the biennium, the budget will stay balanced. I expect that it will.

If you want to know the details of the surplus, here they are. But the main thing is that the good old

Keystone state is leading the other states in finances, as well as all the rest.

At the end of the 1933 regular session of the general assembly, the estimate of available funds in the general fund for the 1933-35 biennium, was $201,500,000; made up of $160,000,000 estimated revenues, $25,000,000 proceeds from the bond issue for unemployment relief, and a cash balance from May 31, 1933, of $16,500,000, less certain liabilities due on prior appropriations.

Appropriations of $201,400,000 were made, leaving an estimated surplus of $100,000 at the end of the biennium.

The special session, which adjourned December 22, brought a change in the situation by providing new income. The Liquor Floor Tax was set up to provide $13,000,000 for the biennium, the permanent tax on liquors was estimated to bring at least $1,000,000, and an increase in the estimate of inheritance taxes provided an additional $2,000,000. A further $350,000 was estimated to come from additional lapses of appropriations.

This made a total of $16,350,000 increase in Pennsylvania's income. $8,600,000 had to be subtracted from this because of the repeal of the tax on citizens' savings in the form of interest-bearing bank accounts.

This made a net increase in estimated available money in the general fund of $8,450,000, which includes the original estimated surplus of $100,000.

The legislature made appropriations of $7,634,312 against this amount, leaving an estimated surplus in the general fund at the end of the biennium of $815,688.

A state stores fund was set up to handle the profits from the operation of the state liquor stores. Several urgently needed appropriations for Pennsylvania's welfare were made from that fund: $20,250,000 was appropriated for unemployment relief, $4,000,000 for old age assistance, $1,310,000 for pensions for the blind, and $10,000,000 to repay the federal government for certain construction grants which have already been requested. It is necessary to repay only $466,066 of that $10,000,000 construction grant during the present biennium.

Other financial legislation passed at the special session provided for the sale of $50,000,000 in bonds for veterans; and $10,000,000 in bonds for taking over of toll bridges. The proceeds from the sale of these bonds will be deposited in special funds.

Pennsylvania citizens can hold up their heads. The commonwealth is operating within its income, and it has carefully made plans to stay within its income.

Higher education operates on the theory that you can get a bushel in a peck measure if you keep at it for four years.

Party Tonight To Benefit Hospital

Several hundred persons are expected to attend the card party and dance in The Cathedral tonight at 8:30 o'clock. The affair is being held for the benefit of the New Castle hospital.

Rev. Fr. Francis Stifter stated today that everything is in readiness for the occasion. The committees have completed plans.

In the main dining room persons who like to enjoy a game of bridge, "500", euchre or bingo may do so. At 9 o'clock a popular orchestra will strike up popular tunes of the day and dancing will be in vogue until 12:30 o'clock.

Special donations will be awarded at 12 o'clock. The entire proceeds realized through the card party and dance will be handed over to the New Castle hospital.

Rev. Fr. Stifter has announced heads of the different committees as follows: Miss Margaret McGowan, bridge committee; Mrs. George Metz, "500" committee; Mrs. John Seger, euchre committee; Albert Stritzinger, bingo committee.

Mrs. Frank Reynolds, refreshment committee; Edward Davenport, reception committee; Mrs. Harry Stenger, dance committee.

Weekly Health Talk

"The other day a man stated that in his entire life of sixty years he had never had a headache. Such persons are decidedly in the minority. Unfortunately, headaches of one type or another are the lot of most of us. And, because of their being common, the usual psychology of indifference is applied to them. In most cases this indifference takes the form of a powder or 'pill' states Dr. Theodore B. Appel, state secretary of health.

"A headache is a symptom, not a disease. But this fact is too frequently overlooked by self-drugging the symptom. Of course, when the headache is an extremely occasional affair which can be directly traced to some indiscretion such as over-eating, the matter does not assume real importance. On the other hand, when they are frequent occurrences, then to overlook causes is decidedly unwise and in many instances a dangerous practice.

"Eye strain with a background of nervous insufficiency has been credited for as much as eighty per cent of all headaches. Eye strain in this connection involves in addition to visual defects improper and over-use of the eyes.

"Teeth frequently are headache causes, as also are nose and throat affections. Constipation, over-eating and improper eating come in for their share of the blame. Flat foot, tight shoes and collars can and do cause head pain. Kidney troubles often generate headache and may be unrecognized for years.

"Remember that a habitually drugged headache is a subtlety which may fool and even satisfy the patient for a time, but not Old Dame Nature. The removal of causes alone can satisfy her."

Second Trial Of Dr. Wynekoop To Open February 19

Date Is Set For Second Trial Of Aged Doctor For Death Of Daughter-In-Law

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—The second trial of Dr. Alice Lindsay Wynekoop, accused of slaying her daughter-in-law, Rheta, was set for Feb. 19.

Somewhat improved in health since her first trial was interrupted by illness, the 63-year-old physician appeared in the court of Chief Justice Philip J. Finnegan this morning and requested the case be reopened at the earliest possible opportunity. Judge Finnegan forthwith assigned the trial to Judge Harry B. Miller and set the date.

The middle class is the one too smart to take patent medicine and too poor to hire a nerve specialist.

New Castle To Play Massanutten Tonight

Five Virginia Giants To Play Against Locals

Virginia Academy School Quintet Will Give New Castle Severe Testing

PRELIMINARY TO START AT 7:30 P. M.

New Castle High School basketball team is in for a "bitter" evening tonight, with the famed Massanutten Academy basketball team of Woodstock, Virginia, coming here to play the Fridaynight combination at the George Washington Junior High floor. The preliminary game will start at 7:30 o'clock and will find the New Castle High reserves and Gersons tangle. This is the first basketball attraction of the season for New Castle lovers of basketball. There is no advance in prices for the game.

Giants To Play Here
The "giants" are coming. This does not mean the New York Giants, nor the giants of David and Goliath's day, but a team of basketball players who will make the New Castle High team look like dwarfs. The smallest man on the Massanutten team will be about 6 foot 1 inch, and the tallest, Nathan Hale, former Bradenton High star, who towers 6 foot 3 inches.

Just how Coach Phil Bridenbaugh figures to stop this giant outfit is more than the writer can tell you. The answer will come about 8:15 o'clock tonight when the two teams clash on the hardwood floor.

"What system will Bridenbaugh use tonight?"
It is going to seem funny for the New Castle High boys to play a team of young giants. Most of the opposition here in the valley is about the same size. The tallest man on the New Castle team is Joe Kelly, and he will look like a boy along side the big Nathan Hale. Hale will find out that Kelly is a crackler-center when the game starts. Kelly is one of the most improved players on the New Castle High team this year.

Reiber At Forward
Captain "Bus" Reiber will be stationed at a forward post again and be figures to have as big a night against the Virginia giants as he did against South Hills. Reiber, it will be recalled, made eight field goals against South Hills in the first time in two years that he has been stationed at forward. Hitchens will play the other forward, with Komnic and Ostrosky at the guards, and this combination should click beautifully against the invaders.

The Massanutten team has not been defeated in two years. They are without a doubt the finest basketball team that has ever been brought to New Castle. Something like 30 or 40 straight victories have been chalked up by this wonder team.

Need Big Crowd
Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner said today that "The Massanutten team cost New Castle a healthy sized guarantee and that it will take a crowd of at least 1,500 tonight to justify the New Castle team in bringing the Academy quintet here." The team is made up of boys from six of the states in the United States, and is a real representative team.

With no advance in price for this fine attraction the George Washington Junior High gym should be rather well filled tonight.

Following are the probable line-ups:
New Castle Massanutten
Reiber, f. Fawcett
Hitchens, f. Henry
Kelly, g. Hale
Komnic, g. Fabricant
Ostrosky, g. Ambrosini
Add to the list of obsolete words: Ology.

Franklin High Tops Junior B's

Ben Franklin Junior High basketball team defeated the Junior B's of Senior High yesterday afternoon at the Franklin High floor 51 to 11, in a lopsided game. The stars for the Franklin High team were Guido, Merando, Avery and Zingaro. For the Junior B's the work of Patton and Stritz was the best.

Tonight the Franklin High varsity five and Junior varsity will go to Wampum for floor games.

Pirates Are Given A Generous Share Of Sunday Games

National League Schedule Contains 15 Sunday Dates For The Pirates

By VICTOR J. JACOBS
International News Service Sports Writer

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 7.—Pittsburgh's baseball fans who, in former years headed for foreign fields to witness big league baseball on Sunday, will witness it in their own "back-yards" this season.

Assurance of this came today with release of the National League schedule for the 1934 season. Modification of the ancient "Blue Laws" permit the Pirates and Phillies to play before the home fans on 12 Sabbaths.

Although not yet released, the American League schedule is expected to contain Sunday dates for the Athletics at Philadelphia. Thus another chapter is added to sports history in Pennsylvania.

For the first time in history inhabitants who finally succeeded in amending the statutes of 1794 may legally cheer their favorites in the national pastime on the Sabbath. The three clubs are expected to profit financially from the change.

Opens April 17.
The 1934 baseball campaign opens officially on April 17 and closes on September 30. Pittsburgh makes its first Sunday appearance at Forbes field on April 29 and the last on September 23. The Phils appear for their first Sabbath game in Philadelphia on April 29.

Instead of playing all holiday games on their home field as in former years, the Pirates will play a Decoration Day double bill at Chicago while Philadelphia performs at Boston. Fourth of July and Labor Day are home assignments for both teams.

The Pirates will inaugurate the 1934 cam sign at St. Louis on April 17 with their home season getting underway on April 24 against the same opponent.

Jimmie Wilson will make his debut as manager of the Phils at the Polo Grounds in New York on April 17. Seven days later the same clubs will play at Philadelphia.

Lengthy home stands for the Buccos are from April 27 to May 15; June 12 to July 4; August 7 to August 29; while those for the Phils are from May 15 to May 28; July 11 to July 26; September 3 to September 20.

Agenda Club To Go To Youngstown

Tonight the Agenda Club basketball team will go to Youngstown, Ohio, for a Jewish league game with the Warren, Ohio, team, newcomers in the Youngstown league. Moss, a new addition to the Agenda team, will be a marked man tonight, as he is a former Cleveland star, having played with the Cleveland Jewish Penters.

This is the first game of the second half of the league race. The B. M. D. team won the first half of the league, with four victories and no defeats. The Agenda club finished in third place. The Agenda club players will meet at the "Y" tonight at 6:45 o'clock to make the trip to Youngstown.

Crosley Hopes To Build Reds Up Into Title

New Owner And President Of Cincinnati Team Is Very Ambitious

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—Starting today, those beautifully cushioned lounging chairs in one of New York's newer and swankier hotels are due for an awful workout. For the baseball clans are gathered here for the annual major league meetings. And if you had a dollar for every cigar ash that will be flicked into the cushions, every footprint that will be left thereon and every glass that will be spilled, you'd never have to work again.

The boys will approve the schedules already drawn up, there may or may not be a few trades of minor importance, millions of words will be spilled and Powell Crosley will have lost some of his faith in human nature.

Crosley New Magnate

Mr. Crosley is the newest millionaire to buy a ball club. In one of his weaker moments he bought the Cincinnati Reds which automatically makes him a game buy, a glutton for punishment and a philanthropist.

Mr. Crosley naively intimates (1) that his fellow club owners will give him a break by making some deals that will help him; (2) that the Reds will make money; and (3) the team may finish in the first division. Mr. Crosley also is one of the world's finest optimists as you may rather from the fact that he thinks the 22,000 agents he has in his regular business which produced the Crosley millions, will act as scouts to dig up stars for his ball club. John McGraw had 22,000 scouts and except in the case of Mel Ott he insists they never dug up anything but headaches and expenses.

Hafey To Stay
Mr. Crosley also has a mania for speed as witness the 118 miles an hour he has driven his car and the two speedy planes he owns. He even threatens to have his ball club travel by air in the near future.

To a neutral observer, it would seem the Reds will be up in the air enough without taking an airplane to get there. And if he's so keen on speed, he's in for a few shocks when he sees his new manager, Bob O'Farrell or Schnozzola Lombardi trucking down to first base.

Mr. Crosley admits the Reds offered him $500,000 for Chick Hafey and he turned them down.

However, Mr. Crosley also has a couple of assets come of his fellow magnates lack—initiative and brains. A man can go far on those even in baseball.

Tin City Rovers To Play Willigs

Famous McKeesport Semi-Pro Team Will Play At Senior High Nxt Monday Night

Tin City Rovers will have their hands full next Monday night at the Senior High floor when the famous Willigs basketball team of McKeesport with a flock of ex-college and high school stars will play here. The Willigs gained national recognition recently by handing the Tulsa D-X Oils, led by Charley Hyatt, a defeat at Pittsburgh.

The Tulsa team last year won the national semi-pro championship and have the same team this year. The Willigs will have in their lineup here three former Westminster college stars including Phil Rice, Gerry Newton and Mauno Siljander.

College Stars
In addition the Willigs will have Crum, former Schenley High sensational forward, and Minnick and Burke, former Grove City college stars, and Smith, former Pitt captain and star guard.

The Tin City Rovers will have Laycock and Benedict, former Grove City and Duquesne stars in the lineup, besides the sensational Jimmy Shaffer of New Castle, and Alexander, Hutchison, Gennock and four more of New Castle. This game will be the feature attraction of the 1934 basketball season here and a big crowd will no doubt be on hand.

Akron Quintet Topples Geneva

(International News Service)
AKRON, O., Feb. 7.—The basketballers of Geneva College were convinced today that the Akron Good-yeers were far superior to them on the court. Geneva dropped a 48 to 34 battle here last night.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

New Castle Y wrestlers hope to even up with the Boys club of Erie as they tangle with the port city grapplers next Saturday night at Erie. The local mat artists had no trouble beating W. & J. and California State Teachers but failed to cope successfully with the heavier wrestlers in the Erie aggregation, hence Erie's victory here. A. Innes, veteran coach and who threw Paul Fabian here, believes Henry MachNicholas outfit is one of the best in Y circles. Saturday night Henry hopes to have the middleweight, light-heavyweight and heavyweight bouts added on the right side of the ledger.

Shenango Tops Slippery Rock

Shenango High With Polenick And Arnold Leading Win 30 To 10

Slippery Rock High School ran into some fast opposition Tuesday night on the Shenango High School floor, so fast that the Rockers went back home on the short end of a 30-10 defeat. Ability to make the most of opportunities, and a nifty defense that kept Slippery Rock away from the basket explaining the lopsided score.

Polenick was the star for Shenango Tuesday night. Four times he looped the ball through the net from the field, and five times converted fouls into points. Arnold was next to him with seven points while Slippery Rock's high individual scoring went to Straub who had four points, a field and a foul goal.

Shenango has dropped a couple of games this season and the mistakes of the lost games have been converted into bulwarks of defense. From now on Shenango is going to be tough for anybody in the county.

Preceding the varsity game last night the Shenango Juniors played Castilewood and defeated them 11-4. The score and lineup of the varsity game:

Golfers Will Assemble Tonight

Semi-Monthly Party Will Be Held At Municipal Club House This Evening

Golfers of the city will assemble at the Municipal club house this evening for their semi-monthly party, with Walt DeArment and his Pennsylvanians as hosts.

A good program has been arranged for the occasion and a record crowd is expected present to take part in the festivities.

At the last party, a high record for attendance was set and a splendid program was presented by the Blair Strip Steel team. The Pennsylvania boys promise not to be outdone.

Francis Wainio Stars As Pitt Defeats Dukes

Former New Castle High Star Garner Nine Points In 31 To 29 Upset Of Dukes

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Feb. 7.—The supremacy of Duquesne University in Pittsburgh court circles was at an end today following a 31 to 29 victory scored over the Dukes by the University of Pittsburgh last night.

For the first time in five battles the Dukes were forced to accept defeat from the Panthers, but only after a stubborn struggle. Francis Wainio, New Castle youngster, was the hero of the Pitt triumph. After Duquesne grabbed the lead in the second half his eagle eye found the hoop to put Pitt into the lead and assure victory. Wainio had four field goals and a foul for nine points.

Pitt led, 17 to 13, at the half.

Washington High Wins Two Games

George Washington Junior High basketball team has won two floor games recently. The Carroll conference machine went to Ellwood City and defeated the Ellwood City High Reserves 26 to 15, and then defeated the Bessemer High Reserves at Bessemer 26 to 16.

This afternoon the Washington High team will go to Youngstown for a game with the Wilkes Junior High team. Coach Dan Carroll will be in charge of the team and will have a strong lineup available.

Commission To Stage Exhibit

Pennsylvania Wild Life To Be Displayed Here In March

DISPLAY WILL LAST THREE DAYS

One of the most highly educational as well as complete exhibitions of Pennsylvania's wild life will be displayed here within the next few weeks. This unusual attraction, which is presented free of charge by the Board of Game commissioners, made its initial debut last year in 12 of our largest cities where it was received with much interest and enthusiasm.

This year the commission has prepared an even greater display—one that surpasses anything they have so far attempted.

Our city, through the courtesy of the Lawrence County Sportsmen association, who is co-sponsoring the program, is fortunate in being chosen as one of the initial show-places for this attraction. The exhibit consists of large groups of live wild birds and animals, all artistically displayed in their natural habitat. It will open on the Lawrence garage, Mercer and South streets, at 10:30 o'clock, p. m., Thursday, March 8-9-10. The exhibit will be open daily from 10:00 a. m. to 10:30 p. m. It will close Saturday at 11:30 p. m.

Made up of several exceptionally large and rather unique environmental settings, with running water for the beavers and ducks, the exhibit will appeal particularly to young and old alike. In addition to the main groups are smaller, though equally interesting ones of bear cubs, wild cats, foxes, squirrels, raccoons, porcupines and other animals, and several interesting displays of various species of pheasants. Other surprises also will be in store for you. Remember, the admission is free.

With few exceptions, the birds and animals have unusual histories. Some of them have been found while quite young by game refuge keepers or game protectors and reared on the bottle. Others, many of them mature, were trapped specifically for display purposes.

District Game Protector Frank Coen, in conjunction with the members of the Lawrence County Sportsmen, and the superintendent of the local schools, have arranged for the showing of motion pictures and lectures during the week of the exhibit. The definite schedule will be announced at a later date.

Brooklyn Club Is Up For Sale

Brooklyn Just About On Rocks; Stars Are Gone;
Fans Favor Giants

By DAVID J. WALSH
International News Service Sports
Editor.

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—This probably will be the last time that the Brooklyn Dodgers will be under the glowing head of "business opportunities." And, on second thought, probably it should not, because what Webster says about an opportunity is that it is "a favorable or advantageous chance" and what he may have to say about a business undoubtedly has nothing to do with the Brooklyn baseball club of the National League.

Before going further in this direction, perhaps I can relieve the awful suspense by stating that I am reliably informed today that the Brooklyn Dodgers, otherwise the daffiness boys, otherwise the young men who play by ear, are for sale.

Nothing accomplished. How much is wanted for the franchise, lock, stock and the amusement rights in the dugout, I'm not prepared to say. Neither is it known whether buyers hover expectantly in the office, waiting for a favorable sign from within. All I want to know is that, as the major league meetings broke up and their human tide receded today, the story of the proposed sale remained behind like so much driftwood washed upon the beach and left to dry.

That a faintly unpleasant simile, but it tells the story of a ball club that made $300,000 in 1930 and wrote a goodly portion of it off in losses last year. Moreover, the situation figures to get no better with marked haste, since the coming of Sunday baseball into Pennsylvania means the passing of Sunday profits from Brooklyn. The Dodgers used to entertain the Pirates and Phillies at Ebbets field on a Sunday afternoon every time either of them were within a day's travel of Brooklyn. But no more.

Stars Are Gone. The Dodgers now will break no better than 15 other major league outfits on the Sunday racket, which means that some of their attractiveness as a "buy" is no more, either. At one time, they were the poor relation of baseball. That was in those far off days at Washington park where old Squire Ebbets, his shirt sleeves protected by "guards," used to sit at the back of a high bookkeeper's stool and harangue the populace. Later, they knew success, then affluence.

The latter came in the years between 1929 to 1931. In 1930 alone they played to 1,100,000 admissions and, with a ball park seating only 23,000, it was their painful necessity to turn away about 300,000 people. They could use some of them now, for somehow the old romance and appeal is gone. Part of it died with Ebbets. The rest died by degrees, some say because the Dodgers did not win; others, that with the passing of Babe Herman, Vance and Uncle Robbie, the Dodgers were, strictly speaking, no longer the Dodgers.

East Brook Tops West Sunbury In Floor Game 44-18

East Brook Swamps Visitors,
Hart And Rung Star, Faculty
Defeats East Brook
A. A.

East Brook high school basketball team handed the West Sunbury high quintet a 44 to 18 defeat last night at the East Brook high floor in a lopsided engagement. Hart and Rung were the high scorers of the game for the East Brook team. The score at the half was 27 to 10 with East Brook leading.

Cocher Emerick used his entire second and third teams against the West Sunbury team. For the visitors the work of Crawford and McCaslin was the best.

In the preliminary game the East Brook high faculty basketball team led by Coach Howard Emerick defeated the East Brook A. A. married men's team 26 to 24. Watson also played a fine game. Patterson and McKee were the stars for the East Brook A. A. team.

The summary:

	East Brook	West Sunbury
Hart, f.	4	0
Rung, f.	5	2
H. Kendall, c.	4	0
Scotia, g.	1	2
E. Kendall, f.	1	3
Jameson, f.	1	0
Waddington, f.	0	2
Shuler, g.	0	1
Hall, g.	1	0
	17	10

Non-scoring subs—Newman, Palco, Fink, Krause, Cline, Carr.

	East Brook	West Sunbury
Crawford, f.	2	1
Williams, f.	1	2
Showalter, c.	0	1
McCaslin, g.	1	6
	4	10

Non-scoring subs—Russell, Corbett, Chipman.

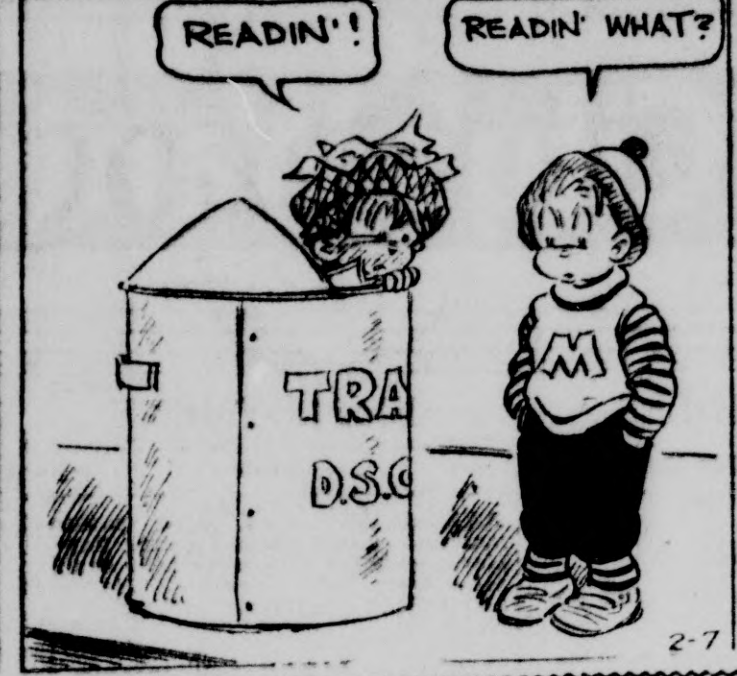

Referee—Bill Wallace.

Flat white fur on colorful tweed coats is a spring style which will be much seen.

COTTON STRONGEST OF COMMODITIES

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—Further profit taking and some liquidation as a result of the French riots brought a somewhat easier tone in the stock market today. Trading was heavy throughout the forenoon session with the ticker several minutes behind the list and unable to catch up.

Buying of the utilities and gold shares and selling of the aviation stocks featured the forenoon trading. Commonwealth & Southern and other utility stocks, including American Water Works and North American, were again turned over in large volume at fractionally higher levels.

In the gold shares United States Smelting was again an outstanding strong spot gaining more than 2 points. Alaska Juneau, Dome and McIntyre also were strong.

United Aircraft was a target for the shorts and liquidation as a result of the continued senatorial investigation and reports that the president may act to cut air mail subsidies.

The rail shares including New York Central, Southern Pacific and Union Pacific displayed an easier tone and ruled fractionally lower. Prime industrials including United States Steel, American Can and Bethlehem also were easier.

Commodity markets were mixed as cotton advanced 50 cents, a half, while wheat, corn, and the other grains dipped from fractions to a cent a bushel in heavy trading.

ROSES ARE POPULAR IN OREGON CITY

(International News Service)
PORTLAND, Ore.—Not content with Portland's reputation as a "Rose city," women's civic clubs opened a drive for more roses which ended with a "rose planting week" in which thousands of new rose bushes were added to the city's floral decorations.

In Religious And Fraternal Circles

Players Organize.

The young people of the First Christian church interested in dramatics met Sunday afternoon at the church to organize, with Ruth Lewis as director.

Officers named were: Ralph Davies, president; Walter Conover, vice president; Laura Snider, secretary-treasurer.

The group will again present "The Ghost Chasers" in the church March 1, under the auspices of Section One. Monday, February 12, at 7:30 the next meeting of the group will take place.

Simpson Church.

A large and attentive congregation listened to Clara Maye Hatfield Tuesday evening in the Simpson Methodist church, as she spoke on "Am I My Brother's Keeper?"

Mrs. John Wink and Mrs. Avery Rigby sang several numbers. At the close of the service there were a number came to the altar for prayer.

At 6:45 this evening the evangelist will speak to the children and at 7:30 she will address the audience on "Will An Unregenerated Church Member Go To Heaven?"

There will be visiting delegations this evening from the People's Mission and the Wesley Methodist church, who will have charge of the special singing.

Teachers Meeting

The teachers and officers of the Central Christian church met Tuesday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Doerr, Huron avenue, with 15 present.

A. W. Bauman presided and reports of the school work were given and plans made for the spring months.

A social period followed business, with Mrs. C. W. Johnstone assisting the hostess in serving refreshments.

Mizpah Society

Mrs. W. K. Conover, Pine street, was hostess to the members of the Mizpah society of the First Presbyterian church in her home, Tuesday evening, with twelve members and two guests, Mrs. Spear and Dufford present.

Miss Fannie Perry had the devotional; Mrs. Jay Allsworth talked on "The American Negro" and Mrs. Walter Conover on "Africa." Plans were made for a tureen dinner in the church Tuesday, February 20, when the annual meeting and election of officers will be held.

Leaders for the March 6 meeting will be Mrs. Sadie Angus, Mrs. Paul Perry and Miss Christine Butler.

Auxiliary Meeting

The meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary Thursday afternoon at 1:45 o'clock in the Trinity church, to which all of the women of the parish are invited, assumes more than usual importance because final plans will be perfected for the Lenten program. This includes the holy communion every Friday morning, followed by all-day sewing for St. Mary's Mission, Washington, North Carolina, and the annual corporate communion with presentation of the united thank offering in preparation for the tri-annual meeting and conference at Atlantic City this fall.

At 2:30 p. m. mission study, on the general topic, "Christ and the Modern World," will be led by Mr. Pearson. The special subject is Christianity and Communism, the failures of each, the good points of each, and which has the more enduring plan of life.

Almira Home Program

The Moody Bible class of the First M. E. church will conduct a prayer service at the Almira Home Thursday, Feb. 8, at 7:30 o'clock. The meeting will be in charge of Ira D. Campbell, president of the class.

The devotionals will be conducted by E. H. Grace, which will be followed by a number from the Moody Bible class quartet, with Charles W. Davis making a short address.

This meeting is for the benefit of the ladies of the home, and all members of the Bible class are invited to attend.

L. L. O. I. Meeting.

Martha Washington lodge 24, L. L. O. I., will have a business meeting Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in the city building.

Gleaners Society.

The Gleaners society of the Second M. E. church met Monday evening in the home of Mrs. E. O. Alexander, Ellwood road, with Mrs. J. P. Boyard as the leader.

The third chapter of the study book "Christian Missions in America" was reviewed after which a social hour was enjoyed by the 36 members present.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. J. C. Wimer and Mrs. Frank Palmer.

S. O. D. Society

Members of the S. O. D. society of the Central Presbyterian church met Tuesday evening in the church with Mrs. Hazel Conway, Mrs. Marie Stillwagon, Mrs. Eva Stewart and Mrs. Rose Kingensmith as hostesses.

Mrs. Oscar Rhodes was leader for the evening and the topics, "Africa" and "The American Negro" were discussed spiritedly by the members. A letter was read from Mrs. C. H.

Crooks of Siam, thanking the society for its donation of hospital supplies, giving a vivid word picture of the pleasure and appreciation with which these things are received at the mission hospital.

Plans were made for a cafeteria lunch Friday, February 16.

An election of officers resulted in Mrs. Sylvia Sturdevant being named president; Mrs. Clarence Alken, vice president; Mrs. Bertha Montgomery, secretary; Mrs. Laura Slack, treasurer; Mrs. Oscar Rhodes, stewardship secretary; Mrs. Eva Stewart, flower secretary and Mrs. Florence Davidson, press secretary.

The hostesses served a tray lunch, with Valentine appointments.

Circle Has Dinner

The Randolph Circle of King's Daughters had a most enjoyable meeting Tuesday in the Deacons' home, Phillips street, with a tureen dinner featuring the noon hour.

Mrs. Frank Streib and her group were in charge of the arrangements and after a delicious menu had been served a business session was called with Mrs. J. C. Peterson and Jennie Anderson, retired deaconess, in charge of the devotionals.

Plans for the year's activities were discussed and a social hour ensued.

Dorcas Class Meets

Miss Elizabeth Rees, Long avenue, entertained the members of the Dorcas class of the First Congregational church Tuesday evening in her home for a business and social session.

Plans were completed for the concert to be given February 16 and talks were given by David Lewis and David Rees, who were special guests.

The hostess was assisted by her aunt, Mrs. D. W. Thomas, and Florine Davies in serving lunch.

March 6 Miss Hannah Richards, Winter avenue, will be hostess to the class.

Christian Alliance

The Wednesday evening service in the Christian Missionary Alliance, 210 Pearson street, has been dispensed with this evening owing to the day of prayer, which is being held in all mission fields and home land churches Thursday.

Services will begin at 1 p. m. and continue through the afternoon; at 7:30 p. m. the pastor, Rev. C. F. Westover, will be in charge and songs will be intermingled with the prayers.

The pastor will meet the official board and candidates for membership ship at the close of the service.

Alfred Kozella Injured When Struck By A Bicycle Ridden By Andrew Kavolick

Alfred Kozella, by his father, Joseph Kozella, has filed a suit at the prothonotary's office against Joseph Kavolick and Elizabeth Kavolick, his wife, to recover damages for injuries sustained by Alfred Kozella when he was struck by a bicycle ridden by Andrew Kavolick, minor son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kavolick.

In the statement of claim it is alleged that Andrew Kavolick was riding his bicycle north on Moravia street between Chartes street and Miller avenue. He was carrying Alphonso Keschusko and a gallon jug on the handlebars. Alfred Kozella was standing still on Moravia street, when he was struck by the bicycle and knocked down. He was injured about the head and legs, and had to be taken to the New Castle hospital.

It is claimed that the accident was due to the carelessness of Andrew Kavolick, and $300 damage is asked.

Dr. Lumen Popp was welcomed as a new member today. Councilman A. A. Hoyland and George E. Lyon, who announced the community fathers' and sons' banquet of February 13, were guests.

Little was accomplished Tuesday afternoon at the conference between CWA Administrator L. B. Round and M. A. Mulcahy and John Velker, representing the truckers at work on CWA projects. The conference was one of several which have been held to settle definitely the demands of the truckers for an adjustment in their rates of pay.

Mr. Mulcahy and Mr. Velker presented a schedule of operation costs showing what the truckers have to spend to operate their trucks. After discussing the matter for some time Mr. Round took the figures under advisement and promised a decision on Thursday afternoon.

Public Hearings On Milk Prices

Hearings Will Be Held By State Milk Control Board In Pittsburgh, Erie, Philadelphia

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Feb. 7.—Public hearings on minimum prices for milk will be held by the newly created state milk control board at Philadelphia, Erie and Pittsburgh, according to an announcement today from the board.

Hearings at Philadelphia will be held February 8 and 9; at Erie, February 13, and at Pittsburgh, February 21 and 22.

Edward A. Stanford, chairman of the board in a statement announcing the hearings, said:

"The hearings will be held prior to fixing both the minimum price to be paid by milk dealers to producers and the minimum price to be charged by milk dealers to consumers. Dealers, producers and consumers will be represented and any one interested in the situation may be heard."

Merchants Head Says Business Is Picking Up

General Robert E. Woods,
President Of Sears, Roebuck Co., Makes Statement

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Praising the Roosevelt monetary policy and asserting bankers "know little about money," General Robert E. Woods, president of Sears, Roebuck & Co., told a House banking subcommittee today that business is steadily improving.

The upward trend began when the United States went off the gold standard and began depreciating the dollar, he said.

"I think the handling of the monetary problem is more important than all other measures to restore business—the NRA and all of them," Woods asserted. "The price level is the key to the situation."

Bill Approved

Approving a bill before the committee to create a federal monetary authority, the general said: "I think you have got to take away from the federal reserve the power to issue money."

"My indictment of the bankers is not the usual one. My criticism is that they never studied this monetary problem—they repeated parrot-like a few phrases."

"Excepting very few bankers, they never knew as much about the monetary situation as some of the farm organization leaders and members of Congress."

Braham Delivers Luncheon Address

'Lincoln, The Great Democrat' Is Attorney's Topic At Kiwanis

Attorney W. Walter Braham today lauded Abraham Lincoln, whom he termed a "humble dictator," as he compared him with Mussolini, Hitler, Stalin and other powerful dictators of the present in a masterful tribute to the Great Emancipator which he delivered before the Kiwanis club at The Castleton today.

"Lincoln, The Great Democrat" was the subject of Mr. Braham's message.

"Lincoln was the great Democrat," declared the speaker during the course of the address. "Washington is the strong man, the builder of empire, the indomitable one, destroying chaos and bringing light. Lincoln is the compound strength and weakness, of conservatism and daring that is characteristic of a democracy."

The humble attitude that Lincoln assumed was contrasted with the apparent ego of the modern dictators.

"Lincoln's greatness arose from the fact that he knew and loved the common man," continued Mr. Braham. "Not many men can talk in language of independence and have it mean anything. The political nature of the Civil War leader, his goals as president and other interesting phases of his life were discussed."

Dr. Lumen Popp was welcomed as a new member today. Councilman A. A. Hoyland and George E. Lyon, who announced the community fathers' and sons' banquet of February 13, were guests.

Driver's License Registrations At Total Of 303,612

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Feb. 7.—The volume of applications for 1934 automobile drivers' licenses is rising sharply and the aggregate to date is within 60,000 of the total to date at the same time last year, the bureau of motor vehicles reported today.

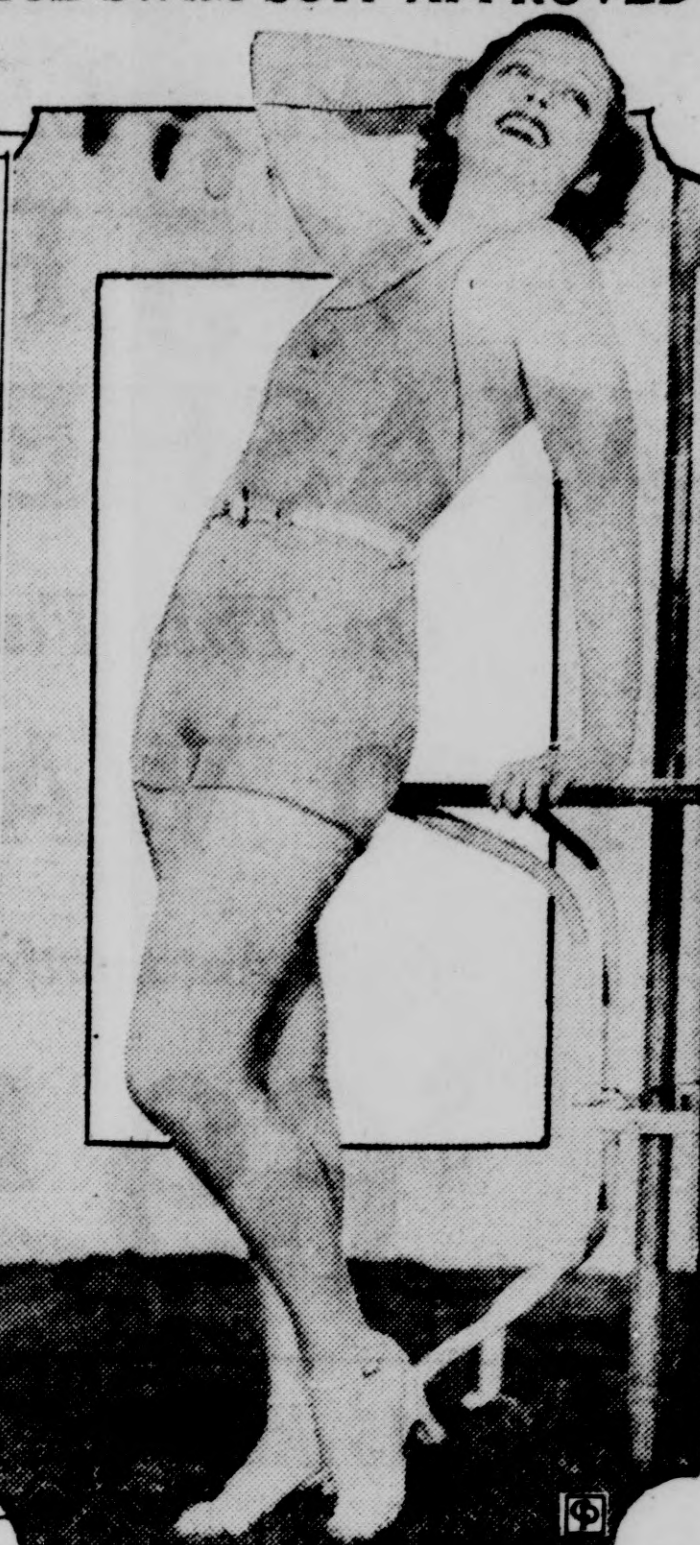

A total of 34,580 licenses was issued yesterday and today's mail brought about 35,000 new applications. The total to date is 303,612, of which 112,000 have been issued within the last five days.

(International News Service)
AMBRIDGE, Pa., Feb. 7.—A. W. Johns, former borough manager of Ambridge, has quit as CWA supervisor on the heels of criticism by his superior that the work was only "53 percent efficient," it was revealed today.

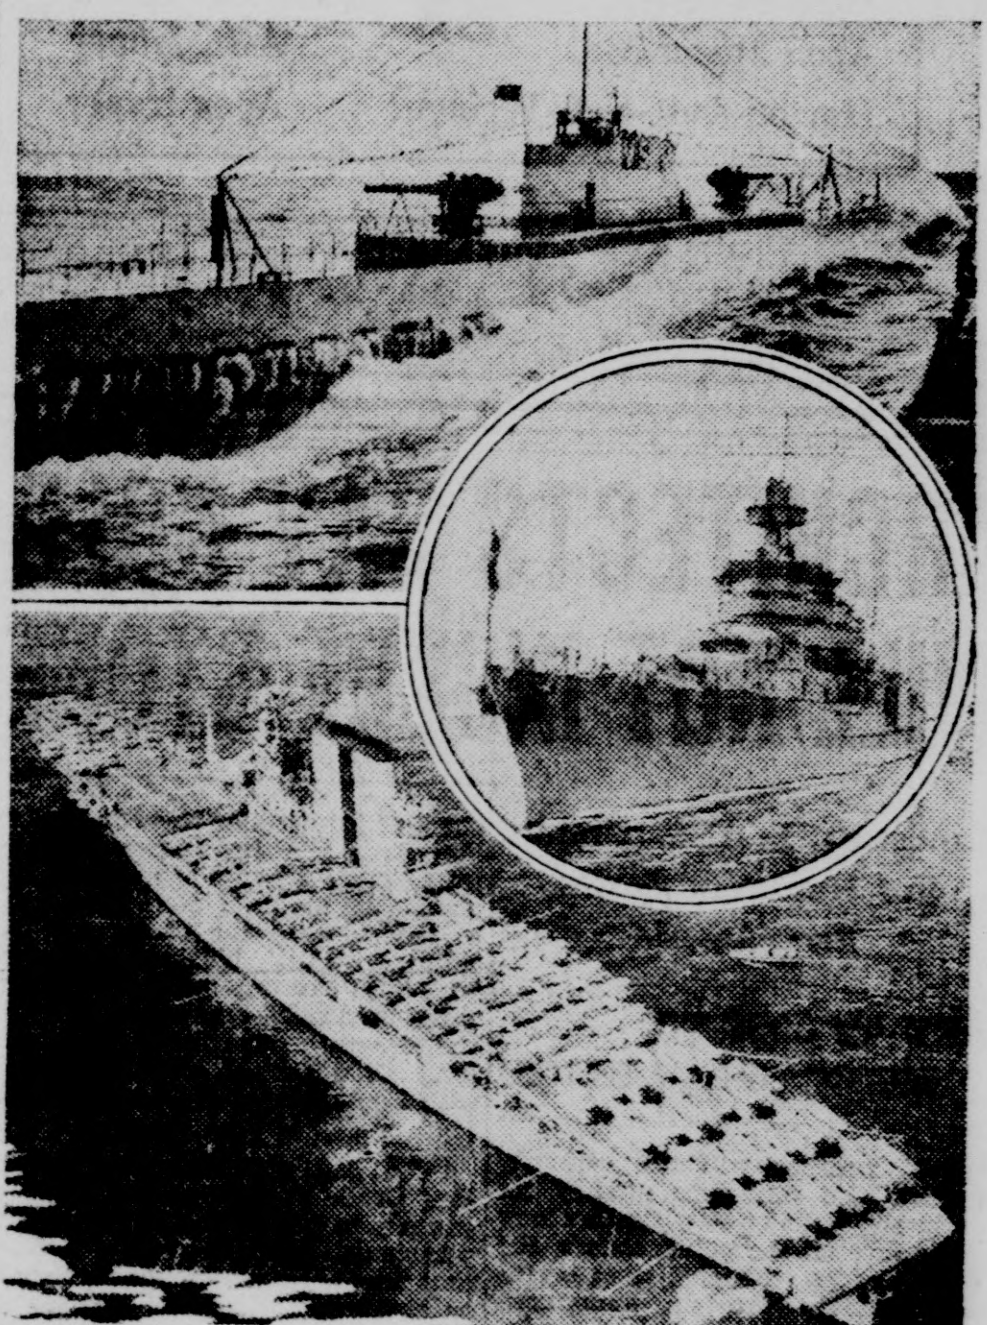

The charge of inefficiency was made by Frank Hary, Beaver county CWA representative, who probed the local situation following complaints from several workers protesting against working conditions. The men were employed in leveling a hill for a borough athletic field.

ONE-PIECE SWIM SUIT APPROVED

The good old one-piece bathing suit is right in the limelight again at the winter resorts, and will be conspicuous on the beaches next summer, wherever the censorship is not too strict. Frances Drake, film actress, has just the kind of figure to glorify the dullest swim suit, and here she is in her choice, a smart one-piece in a new sun-tan shade that is a dark rose beige. Bathing suits are being cut so low in Paris, that models displaying them actually blush when showing them before customers.

Navy Bill Means More of These

With the passage of the Vinson navy building bill through the House, Uncle Sam's sea and air forces will be brought up to full treaty strength by 1939. Included in the 102 new ships provided for in the bill are thirty submarines of the V5 type (top), six cruisers of the Indianapolis type (circle), and a plane carrier like the Saratoga (below), as well as 1,184 fighting airplanes. ## ARCHITECTS SAY COLD WILL NOT INJURE STONE

Sandstone Is Like Granite
For Hardness, Eckles
Firm Asserts

ARE AT LOSS TO KNOW DELAY CAUSE

Cold weather will not seriously damage the sandstone already set up in the walls of New Castle's new post office on the public square, the W. G. Eckles company, local architects for the projects, announced today.

The architect firm today was asked by The News whether the building's exterior stone was being damaged due to suspension of work and why the construction is not proceeding, and, in reply, Robert A. Eckles declared:

"Regarding the post office project we would like to make it clear that this firm was employed by the federal government to prepare drawings and specifications only, at the standard architectural fee for such services. Therefore, we have no jurisdiction over the actual construction work, which is handled entirely by the Treasury department.

Have Community At Heart
"We are, however, very much interested in the building and have the best interests of this community at heart. For that reason we protested many months ago against the change of material from sandstone to limestone in the ashlar for the exterior walls. This matter has gone into carefully on a number of occasions with representatives of the Treasury department, with the local Chamber of Commerce and with Congressman J. Howard Swick.

Decision Was Reached
"The last official conference in New Castle reached a definite conclusion, to which the Treasury department representative agreed, that the necessary sandstone could be obtained and should be used in the ashlar. We are therefore at a loss to know why the project has not proceeded along those lines."

The Eckles statement again emphasized their opinion that, "It is a mistake to change this material in the wall surfaces and while it might cost the government something to change back to the original specifications due to its action on this matter, it is the only way to make the work entirely satisfactory in appearance."

Mr. Eckles said this of the stone endurance in zero weather:
"As far as the stone being damaged is concerned it is our opinion that the stone already laid up in the walls is not being seriously injured by any delay in construction. The sandstone being used is a very durable material which ranks close to granite in all its characteristics." Then he added:

"The longer the delay occurs, of course, the more difficulty there will be in matching the color of the present material. However, we know of no reason why the work should not be proceeding according to the original specifications and drawings."

Labor Board Marking Time

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Feb. 7.—Pending the return of Ernest T. Weir, chairman of the Weirton Steel company board of directors, from New York, representatives of the National Labor board marked time today in their drive for a poll of Weirton employees.

Informing that Weir must determine if a list of employees can be turned over to the board of representatives, Milton Handler, the board's council, returned to Washington. James F. Dewey, labor board conciliator, remained here to await the arrival of Weir on Thursday or Friday.

The federal officials seek the names of approximately 12,000 workers at steel plants in Weirton and Clarksburg, W. Va., and Steubenville, O., to carry out President Roosevelt's order that employees be polled to determine the sentiment for a supervised election of representatives for collective bargaining. The case is virtually a test of the powers of the NLR.

School Teachers Ruling Is Made
School Districts Cannot Discharge Then Rehire Teachers At Reduced Salaries

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Feb. 7.—School directors cannot legally discharge teachers and then rehire them at reduced salaries under new contracts to escape paying increments prescribed by law, according to a department of justice ruling today.

The opinion was written by Deputy Attorney General Harris C. Arnold for W. M. Denison, deputy superintendent of public instruction, who cited the case of an unidentified district which discharged all teachers at the end of the year and then rehired them at the basic salary. Only when a teacher changes districts is the right to increases under the school code lost, according to the ruling.

Pauline Fredericks Oversleeps, Misses Philadelphia Talk

Actress Will Make Up For Social Error, Will Not Emulate La Galienne Case

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 7.—Last December's exciting tiff between Eve Le Gallienne and Ethel Barrymore on one side and Philadelphia club-women on the other was recalled to memory today, and by no less a person than Pauline Frederick, noted stage and screen star.

But, Miss Frederick emphatically declined to emulate the examples set by Le Gallienne and La Barrymore who berated the town's society leaders. Failing to keep an engagement to address the Philadelphia Music club because she overslept at her hotel, Miss Frederick said:

"I wouldn't be put in the same position as Miss Le Gallienne and Miss Barrymore for anything on earth. I will do everything possible to make up for this."

Flashes From Our Night Schools

By JOHN G. RUBEIS
(Supervisor)

As a motto, the Lincoln and Garfield night school students might well adopt the words, "No More Illiteracy In New Castle," for they are struggling hard to make this true.

Mrs. Tintman, warm-hearted instructor of the foreign women's class, states that she has a half-dozen bravely patient women who have never missed a session, so anxious are they to avail themselves of the opportunity of learning to read and write in the English tongue. No matter what the weather is like outside, this particular group of women is always found in place when the lesson takes up.

Among the students in this class is little eight-year-old Mike Colella, crippled since eight years of age, who is making a brave fight to win an education. Night after night, Mike's mother, a widow, carries the crippled child to Mrs. Tintman's class, and he absorbs all that his little brain can stand.

Mr. Harris, teacher of the foreign men, also cites several instances of the perseverance put forth by some of his students. One in particular drives from West Pittsburgh to the Lincoln and Garfield building in order that he may become a "good citizen". There are seven young men in Mr. Harris' class who attend classes until ten o'clock, then hurry home, change clothes, and go to their work in the hot mills of the American Sheet and Tin Plate company. Another student is employed in Allegheny, but hurriedly eats and dresses on his return home, so that he can attend the Americanization classes.

One of the Americanization class has had an interesting battle to prove his citizenship. Born in this country, he was taken back to Italy at the age of two. He grew up, got married, and served in the Italian army during the World war. He came back to the United States, voted, and lived as a citizen here. Then he sent for his wife, who was still residing in Italy. Bankers told him he could not do this as he had lost his rights as a United States citizen, when he swore allegiance to the Italian flag. The matter was finally taken to the Immigration Bureau officials. They ruled that he was still an American citizen, as he lacked two months of being 21 years of age, when he swore allegiance to the Italian flag.

From the class of Mr. Griffiths comes the story of brave Teresa, whose eyesight was so poor that she had to stay at home in a darkened room, while companions of her own age went to school. Then apparently, when her chance for an education had passed, her eyes responded to treatment. It seemed to late for her to go to school. She thought the work would be too hard for her, but Mr. Griffiths' persuasion won out, and now Teresa is winning out in a battle to master the American language.

One of the students in Mr. Leonard's class comes from far out on the Harbor road.

Mr. Leonard, who teaches arithmetic, English and bookkeeping at the Lincoln and Garfield building, finds the students ready and eager to celebrate Lincoln's birthday next week. They, like he, are fighting a hard battle for an education.

As speakers on the program, arranged for next week, will be three of Mr. Leonard's brightest pupils, Nicholas George, David Tino, and Fred Domenick. A program of music, songs, and speeches, will compose the program.

SHENANGO MILL WORKER HAPPY SINCE "VENDOL" GAVE RELIEF

Suffered From Indigestion, Sharp Gas Pains In Stomach, and Nausea. Had Weak Spells, Was Daily Constipated. Says New Medicine Vendol Is Wonderful.

MR. FRANK RUNG
Works In Wire Room Department

"My friends all say I look so much better since I began taking Vendol two weeks ago, and I certainly feel a great deal better," said Mr. Frank Rung who lives on Route 9, Lake-wood Beach, New Castle, and is employed at the Shenango Tin Mills. He was giving his experience to the Vendol Man in the New Castle Drug Company a few days ago.

"My stomach had been giving me a lot of trouble lately; even if I ate a light meal. The food would sour, turn to gas, and I would rattle up a hot, burning fluid into my throat. Sometimes my stomach was so bad that I couldn't eat anything."

"While at work the gas pains seemed to grip my stomach, and if I did heavy lifting or stooped over they would be especially bad. Heartburn made my stomach feel like it was on fire at times. When these attacks came on I would feel weak and would break out in a sweat."

"I suffered all the time from constipation which made it necessary to take a pill at night or a dose of salts before breakfast. I was nervous and would roll and toss in the bed a good part of each night."

"I read about the new medicine Vendol in the papers and gave it a trial; the results are very satisfactory. I also took the little laxative tablets and they are the nicest medicine of this kind I have ever tried."

"Since taking the Vendol treatment two weeks, my stomach is more comfortable than it has been
